

Huge Amphibious Raid, Allies Storm Peninsula

SAIGON (UPI) — About 5,000 Allied troops stormed a Communist-held peninsula on South Vietnam's central coast in the biggest amphibious operation since U.S. Marines landed at Inchon harbor in the Korean war, military spokesmen said today.

Communiques said some 3,000 U.S. Marines riding helicopters and landing craft swept into the Batangan peninsula Monday from the South China Sea. Another 2,000 U. S. and South Vietnamese infantrymen set up a cordon at the neck of the isthmus to block a Communist retreat.

About 1,000 Communist soldiers were believed holed up on the peninsula 300 miles north-east of Saigon. Leaflet drops and loudspeaker broadcasts urged an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 civilians in the area to leave prior to the assault.

The target of the assault was a two-square-mile area heavily fortified with bunkers and tunnels that has been used by the Communists as a staging point for more than 20 years, the spokesmen said. Many of the fortifications were constructed by the Japanese during World War II.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman starts saying the goodbyes in Paris as chief of the U.S. negotiating team at the Vietnam war talks. Story Page 20.

"There are a lot of VC (Viet Cong) in there and we are sure it will be strongly contested," Brig. Gen. Howard H. Cooksey of Alexandria, Va., one of the task force commanders said.

UPI Correspondent Kate Webb reported one American was killed and six wounded during the early phases of the operation. She said about 500 suspects were rounded up for interrogation.

Rear Adm. William W. Behrens Jr., commander of the invasion force, said there had been 62 amphibious assaults in Vietnam since 1965 but "none can compare with this." He said many more troops were landed at Inchon in September, 1950, in the campaign that drove the North Korean army out of South Korea "but this is a far more complicated and far reaching operation in every other respect."

Participating in the peninsula drive were elements of the U.S. Army American Division, the Marines' 26th Regimental Landing Team and units of the South Vietnamese 2nd Infantry Division.

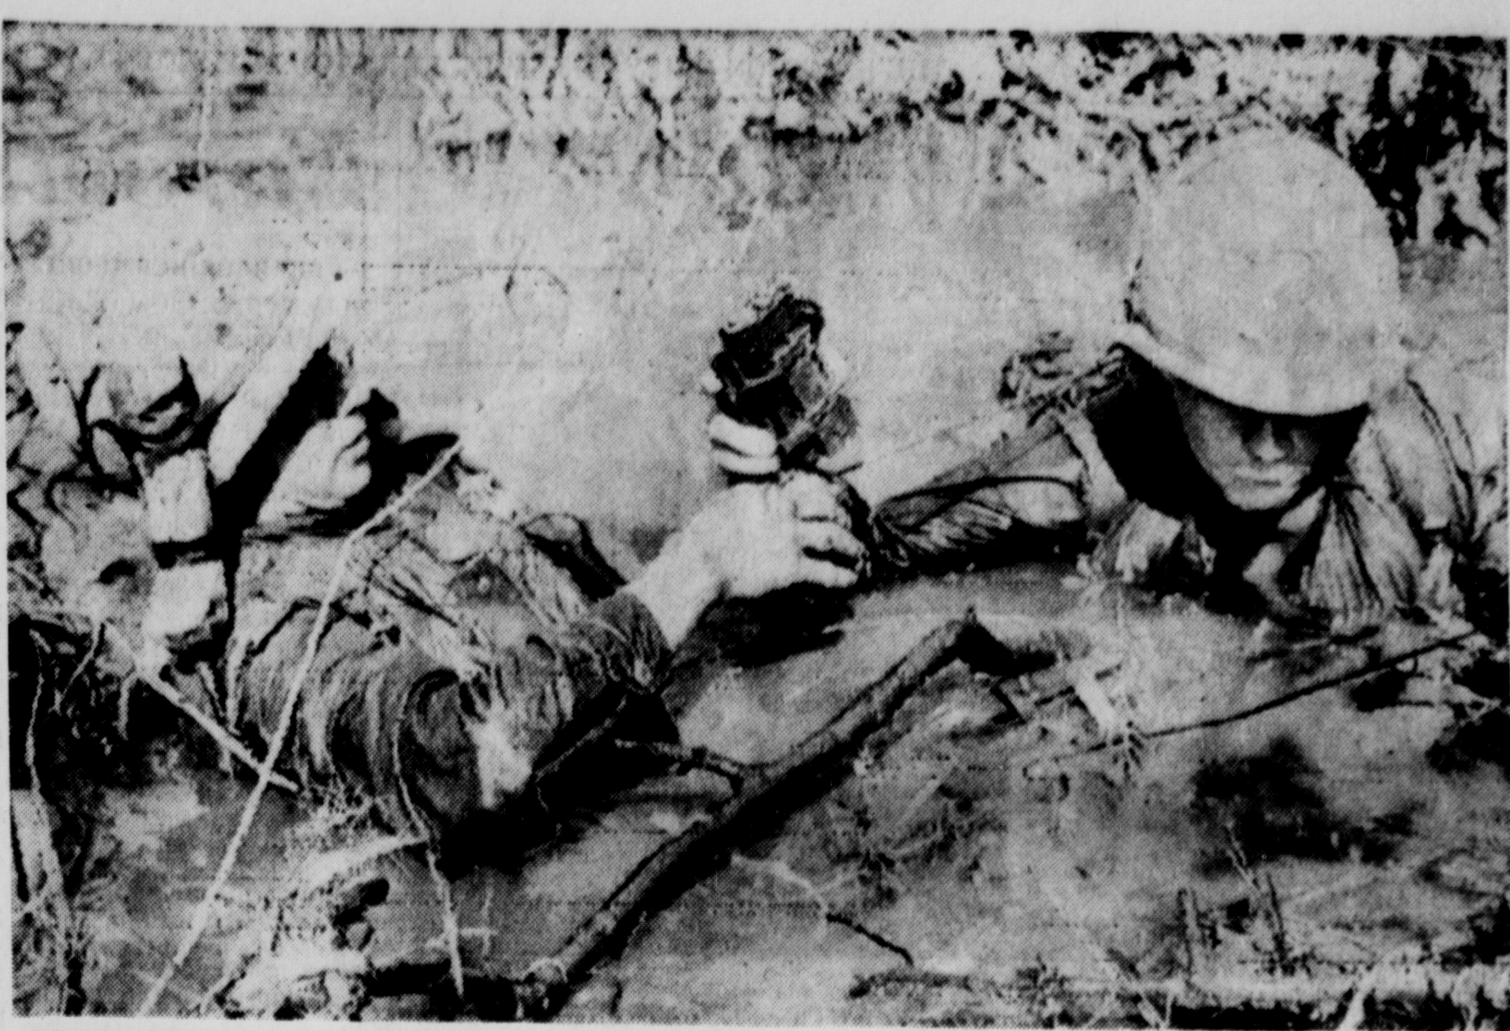

Near Saigon early today a Viet Cong force attacking behind a rocket grenade barrage partially destroyed a bridge guarded by South Vietnamese soldiers. Other Communist troops invaded a refugee camp on the northern coast and kidnapped about 40 men, women and children, government spokesmen said.

Guerrillas struck at the bridge about 20 miles northwest of the capital early today the spokesmen said. They dumped about half the 30-foot-long wooden structure into the canal it spanned and inflicted "light" casualties on the 30 government infantrymen who guarded it.

About 315 miles northeast of Saigon, Communist soldiers broke into a refugee complex on the northern coast and kidnapped 40 persons. Another 260 civilians in the camp escaped, South Vietnamese military spokesmen said.

The attackers broke into the tent campsite west of Quang Ngai city about midnight Sunday after a brief battle with government militiamen. The government soldiers withdrew after two of their number were killed, the spokesmen said.

It was the second mass abduction by Communist troops in less than a week. South Vietnamese spokesmen said 150 civilians were kidnapped by Viet Cong guerrillas Jan. 6 from an undefended village 36 miles southwest of Saigon.

Twins Die in Blaze

By WALTER S. CLARK
MILTON—Three-year-old twin brothers today perished in flames that swept the home of their grandparents on Milton Turnpike where they were staying while their mother was in New York City.

State police who conducted an investigation of the blaze with Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, identified the victims of the tragic blaze as Everett and Albert David, twin sons of Mrs. Anna

Mae David of Milton Turnpike.

Authorities said the bodies of the two children were burned beyond recognition. They were found on a bed on the first floor of the four-room frame house located on the property of the Norco Fruit Distributors on Milton Turnpike, owners of the house that was involved in this morning's blaze.

Grandfather's Care
Sergeant Stanley Kowalik, who investigated at the scene with BCI Investigator Fred Cooper, said the children had been left in the care of their grandfather, Willie David, an employee at the Norco fruit plant. David was to care for the twins while their mother was in New York City.

Shortly after 9 a. m. the grandfather left his house and was some distance away when he suddenly turned and saw smoke seeping from the house where he had left the children. David ran back to the building but was unable to enter because of the flames and dense smoke that spouted from the structure.

David's cries for help attracted the attention of other workers and members of the office force at the Norco fruit plant. An employee telephoned for the Milton Fire Department and firemen arrived within minutes after being notified that children were trapped in the burning building.

Intense Heat
Heat of the fire and the heavy smoke that poured from the burning house blocked efforts of rescuers who made futile attempts to enter the building.

When firefighters arrived the blaze was sweeping through the frame structure. Milton fire officials directed the men as they pumped tons of water into the burning structure. Through mutual aid, Highland firemen were dispatched to assist and Marlboro Fire Company was alerted on standby basis if needed.

The origin of the fire was not determined. Coroner Chipp withheld a finding pending further investigation.

15 Feared Dead on Airliner

By DAVID JENSEN
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Fifteen persons were believed dead today in the crash at sea of a Scandinavian Airlines System DC8 during a landing approach to Los Angeles International Airport.

Monday night the fuselage of the liner broke in two just aft of the wings when the plane hit the water about eight miles offshore during a rainstorm. The tail section sank almost immediately in 30 feet of water.

The Coast Guard reported early today that four bodies had been recovered from the choppy sea and 11 more persons were missing and may have drowned. There were 30 known survivors among the 45 persons aboard.

A massive search for the missing began at dawn but hope was fading. Sharks were reported in the area and small craft warnings were posted because of the rough seas.

Six crewmembers, including the pilot and co-pilot, survived. The remaining three including two stewardesses were dead or missing.

The jet pancaked on the water after the pilot, Kenneth Davies, a former RAF flyer who now is a Swedish citizen, radioed the control tower: "Something is wrong with my landing gear." The jet faded from radar screens in the tower 18 minutes later when it was three miles from the runway.

Passengers said there was no warning when the plane hit the water. One said the first indication of trouble was a "bumpy landing."

Olof Anderson, 38, an SAS pilot on leave and honeymooning with his new bride, said: "Everything was calm and easy and I think I was dozing," he said. "I first thought we had just had a hard landing. Then I saw the water coming into the plane."

He and his wife both were able to reach a life raft and be saved.

The survivors were taken by boat to Marina Del Rey on the coast, the closest harbor to the scene. They were rushed to Santa Monica Hospital and UCLA Medical Center. Five were reported seriously injured.

There was no immediate explanation of why the jet crashed, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said a natural question was why the passengers were not warned the plane was going into the water.

Two of the four bodies were identified as Susanne Goethberg, an SAS air hostess, and Jules Martinet, Inglewood, Calif., who was returning home from a one-week vacation in Sweden.

An investigation team from the National Transportation and Safety Board was en route here from Washington, D.C., to launch an investigation into the crash. A team of SAS experts also was en route to California from the airline's headquarters.

Three Coast Guard cutters and three helicopters joined the one cutter on the scene at daybreak. A spokesman said the search in wind-driven rain and choppy seas would continue until all hope was gone.

Reid's Hotel Razed by Fire

By SHANE CROSBY
ROSENDALE — A raging fire consumed Reid's Village Inn in Rosendale this morning despite the efforts of firemen from Rosendale, Bloomington, Ulster Hose, Tillsen, Binnewater and High Falls. The roof reportedly blew off the building shortly before noon.

The three-story brick building was owned by Rosendale Village Mayor Joseph Reid who was in the building with his wife when the fire broke out shortly before 10 a. m. Neither was injured.

The fire reportedly broke out in the cellar among some boxes and papers. The alarm was sounded by Hank Ritter and Kevin Reynolds who were cleaning up in Reid's Village Inn, a tavern on the first floor of the building.

Mayor Reid no longer operates the tavern, having leased it to Raymond Ritter, Hank Ritter's son, two years ago. The younger Ritter left for a Florida vacation this weekend, his first since he took over the operation of the tavern.

The elder Ritter and Reynolds smelled smoke in the basement, investigated, and turned in the alarm at 9:45 a. m. to the Rosendale Fire Department which has quarters approximately 50 feet from Reid's Village Inn. Chief Albert Morelli responded and called in Bloomington and Tillsen for assistance.

The fire was still burning at 11:30 a. m. and firemen were unable to enter the building. They did, however, manage to contain the blaze and save Joe's Barber Shop, next door.

At last report firemen were battling to remove a 100-gallon kerosene tank in the rear of Reid's building.

Johnson Will Sum It Up For the Nation Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to outline his analysis of the State of the Union in broad terms tonight and defer recommendations for specific legislation to his successor.

Close associates of the outgoing President say the only exception in his farewell address and to the nation via television and radio, will be to recommend that the 10 per cent income tax surcharge be extended.

By doing so he can include the $13 billion annual revenue produced by the surcharge in his budget for fiscal 1970, and thus show a small surplus when he sends his last breakdown on government spending to Congress Wednesday.

Johnson and President-elect Nixon have been maneuvering for two weeks over the issue of extending the tax, approved for one year by Congress as a check on an overheated economy and due to expire June 30.

The President, reported to believe that the tax was still needed to combat inflation, tried to get Nixon to join him in a public statement advocating extension.

Nixon, who had criticized the tax surcharge during the campaign, demurred.

But after it became known Monday that Johnson would recommend continuance of the surcharge, with or without Nixon's endorsement, he apparently got private assurances of support from the president-elect.

Aides of Nixon said in New York that he would make a statement immediately after Johnson's State of the Union message, and indicated he would endorse the President's decision. There was no indication, however, that he would give the surcharge the wholehearted support that Johnson wanted.

In his address tonight, Johnson is expected to speak in broad, general terms of a necessity for revitalizing the nation's cities as a means of attacking the root of discontent that has led to racial rioting in many slum areas and to violent demonstrations by many college and university students.

What Johnson will say about the status of the war in Vietnam, the lack of progress at the Paris peace talks, remained a closely guarded White House secret.

There was speculation that he would be able to forecast a schedule of withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam. But the rumors, which originated in Saigon, were denied Monday by the State Department. "I know of no proposal by the United States to be announced this week of phased withdrawal of American forces," said State's official spokesman, Robert J. McCloskey.

Nab Guard Trio With Weapons Cache

LITTLE FERRY, N.J. (UPI) — Two sergeants and a civilian employee of the National Guard were under arrest today and a truckload of apparently-stolen military weapons was in the hands of federal agents who had broken up one of the nation's biggest black markets in guns.

Sgt. William Walko, Sgt. Vincent T. DiBartolo, 38, and Kenneth J. Herbeck, 26, were arrested after raids Monday night uncovered arms caches in a modest frame house in Little Ferry and a rented garage in nearby Garfield, N.J. Both towns are suburbs of New York City.

A two-ton truckload of explosives and weapons including machine guns and carbines was taken to Newark, N.J., for inventory. The guns will be displayed today in the Federal Building in Newark.

Walko and DiBartolo, both full-time Guardsmen, were assigned to the Teaneck Armory, where Walko was a custodian and DiBartolo was an administrative supply technician. Herbeck, a small-arms repairman, traveled all over the state repairing weapons for the Guard.

The confiscated weapons included 15 Thompson submachine guns, dozens of pistols, crates of M2 carbines, some Russian-made pistols and carbines, several boxes of hand grenades and other explosives.

The house and garage served as warehouses for the weapons, which were sold after notification that they were available had been circulated "by word of mouth."

The three suspects were to be arraigned today on charges of violating the weapons law. The FBI and Army Intelligence were checking serial numbers on the weapons in an effort to determine exactly where they came from.

Narcotics Guidance Council Eyed

By CHARLES BERMPOHL
ELLENVILLE—It was determined Monday night at a joint meeting of three governing boards that the Wawarsing Town Board will form a Narcotics Guidance Council.

Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin, Ellenville Mayor Eugene Glusker and Ellenville Central School Superintendent Thomas Hayden will form a three-man committee, charged with the responsibility of selecting five area residents to serve on the council.

Monday's meeting attended by members of all three boards, was held at the Ellenville High School.

The council will be formed to act as a "centralized body within the area" so that "all of us can look for some expertise" in combating the problem of drug abuse, Superintendent Hayden said.

Hayden said that the purpose of the council will be mainly educational.

The superintendent also said that the three-man committee

"is anxious to have interested parties, who would be willing to serve on the council." Parties may contact either Supervisor Harkin, Mayor Glusker or Hayden.

The three boards will hold another session Jan. 27 when the committee will present its recommendations.

The names will be submitted to the Wawarsing board and it will, by resolution, set up the council.

According to the act which created the council mechanics, the council "shall consist of not less than three nor more than five members who shall be appointed by the local legislative body for a term not exceeding three years and shall include at least one clergyman, one attorney and one physician."

The act was passed by the State Assembly Jan. 30 of last year and was submitted by Assemblyman Perry Duryea Jr.

owned in part by Town Highway Supt. Leo W. Rogers. The report alleged the following wrongdoing:

- Payment of more than $114,000 in highway rentals to numerous town residents as additions to their payroll, without the approval of the county highway superintendent.
- Purchase of items without town board approval.
- Purchase of items costing more than $1,000 without competitive bidding.
- Construction of a hangar, belonging to a private party, at a town airport, without town authorization and with no receipt indicating rental payment.
- Payment by the town of $586 for repair of a truck not belonging to the town.

Wawarsing Discrepancy

ELLENVILLE — Wawarsing and brought his findings to the attention of audit and control officials.

He was informed that investigators from the department would be at the Ulster County Office Building in Kingston, where the Wawarsing "fund" records are kept, to make the official audit.

There is, as yet, no official word from either Harkin or members of the town board as to where the discrepancy was found, or if any member of the local administration is implicated in the investigation. It is believed about $3,100 is involved.

The township is currently in the midst of tax collections.

Rhinebeck Citizen Group Holds Meeting on Zoning

By LYNN MULVANEY

RHINEBECK — We can't go on doing like grandpa did," Homer K. Staley, Rhinebeck Planning Board member told the local Citizen's Committee meeting concerning proposed town zoning last night.

"And, it's time to save something of what grandpa had — large acreage," added Architect Richard Crowley, another zoning proponent.

What the two men were saying at last night's informational meeting is that the population projection for Rhinebeck indicates double the number of inhabitants in a relatively few years and that plans must be made to accommodate them without sacrificing the practical and aesthetic assets of the town.

Stanley called for town board consideration of the zoning ordinance "right away," saying "Let's get an ordinance even if it's a little less than perfect. It can be revised and updated in time...we are the only town that is not presently working on or having a zoning ordinance."

Continuing, he said that old ordinances cannot be relied upon and that the courts now look upon them as spot zoning.

One of Several

Rhinebeck is one of several northern Dutchess towns which has taken part in a federal and state-sponsored project in which the services of an architectural firm are obtained to draw up a zoning proposal. Rhinebeck's contract with Sargent, Webster, Crenshaw and Folley of Syracuse expires in March. With the ordinance now drawn, only action by the town board is necessary for its adoption. Although public hearings would be held prior to adoption, the public does not have a vote on the matter. The Planning Board would hold two hearings and the town board, one.

The other towns undergoing similar projects are Red Hook, Milan and Clinton.

Crowley explained that the zoning provides for dividing the many sections of the town into districts according to their character and density. There would be resort districts, land conservation districts and high and medium density residential districts. Other designations include agriculture, general business, highway business, industrial and planned development districts.

The latter category was cause for discussion when it was pointed out that certain persons in the community objected to the fact that the designation calls for a 50-acre tract. Crowley explained that any number of buildings would be suitable for such a site, for instance a light clean industry, a complex of stores or a housing division. He said he felt such a provision might attract suitable industry to locate in Rhinebeck.

Crowley also explained that the zoning ordinance stipulates that all use of land or buildings or structures now in existence will be allowed to continue and would not have to conform to the new ordinance.

Varying Amounts

In each district designation the ordinance calls for varying amounts of building coverage per lot or acre and in many instances spells out how much parking space must be allotted certain types of property.

For instance, in an industrial district, 60 per cent building coverage is allowed. In a very low density residential district where the minimum area is five acres, the minimum area per establishment is five per cent building coverage.

The five-acre stipulation also caused some concern among residents, some of the committee said last night. Crowley and Staley both pointed out that in low density areas, the acreage is not all "front lawn" but many times includes woods, hills and rocky or unusable land.

NAACP Hears Talk On Sloop Restoration

The Ulster County chapter of the NAACP met last night at the New Central Baptist Church on the Strand and heard a guest speaker outline plans for a sloop to be built from local contributions and sail the Hudson River.

Winslow Wilson spoke for the sloop restoration group which is sponsoring a fund raising event featuring folksinger Pete Seeger at the municipal auditorium Tuesday, Jan. 21, at 8 p. m. There will also be a presentation on Afro-American folklore by an expert on the subject.

It is expected that the sloop will sail the Hudson this summer, stopping at various ports where it will be open for inspection. There will also be folk singing at each stop.

The organization's first $500 life membership was reported by Membership Chairman Mrs. Leonard Van Dyke. Mrs. Van Dyke said that Roy Zwicker of Catskill, president of Ulster Motel Corporation which operates the Howard Johnson Motel-Restaurant on Rt. 28, took out the membership. Mrs. Van Dyke said that Zwicker told her he heard a speech by Whitney Young, executive director of the Urban League, while attending

Senators Summon Cabinet Choices

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four members of President-elect Richard M. Nixon's proposed cabinet were called before Senate committees today in what is expected to be smooth sailing toward confirmation. But David Packard, a sub-cabinet appointee, faced possible problems because of his wealth.

David M. Kennedy, as Treasury Secretary, John N. Mitchell, as Attorney General, Robert H. Finch, as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and Melvin R. Laird, as Defense Secretary, all appeared assured of trouble-free confirmation.

Packard, designated by Nixon as Deputy Secretary of Defense or the No. 2 man at the Pentagon, had to convince senators he is free of any conflict of interest as long as he retains in trust $300 million of stock in his own firm, a defense contractor.

Senate hearings on Nixon's other cabinet appointments, including the controversial one of Walter J. Hickel as Interior Secretary, are scheduled for later in the week.

The committees technically are working without formal nominations because Nixon cannot forward them to the Senate until he is inaugurated.

But by disposing of the hearings this week, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield hopes to get confirmation of the cabinet hours after Nixon is sworn in.

"If they are reported out of committee favorably we will try to get them confirmed that day—the 20th," Mansfield said.

By tradition, Senators of both parties tend to approve a President-elect's initial cabinet, barring some overriding objections. The only opposition that has surfaced so far has been against Hickel.

Laird and Packard were going before the Armed Services Committee and its new chairman, John C. Stennis, D-Miss.; Kennedy and Finch were appearing before the Finance Committee; and Mitchell faced the Judiciary Committee.

Packard's trouble traces to his proposal to place $300 million in stock of the Hewlett-Packard Co., in a charitable trust for as long as he is in government service. All income from the trust would go to charitable and educational institutions as would any increase in capital value of the stock. Stennis has already confirmed that this proposal "involves a question of conflict" without committing the committee to any course of action.

In the past, however, the committee has forced defense secretaries to sell stock in firms with defense contracts. Former secretaries Robert S. McNamara and Charles E. Wilson were forced to sell their stocks in Ford Motor Co. and General Motors, respectively, before they could be confirmed.

Nixon's Picks Troubling the Blacks

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP)—President-elect Nixon, who pledged that dissenters would be heard in the councils of his administration, has encountered some—although apparently second-hand.

Leaders of six Negro organizations spent over an hour with Nixon in New York Monday and two of them asserted later that his appointments are troubling the Black community.

Nixon arrived early today in Key Biscayne, his Florida retreat, for a surprise visit expected to extend until Friday. He came alone, and planned to work alone on the final draft of his inaugural address.

Nixon is expected to spend

Friday night and Saturday in New York, then fly to Washington next Sunday on the eve of his inauguration.

Singles Out Moynihan

After Monday's New York meeting, Matthew Wright of the Black Power Conference singled out Daniel P. Moynihan, Nixon's assistant for urban affairs, for his criticism.

Wright said Moynihan is committed to "the white mind set," which emphasizes the rehabilitation of buildings instead of people in dealing with city problems.

"He has added to the possibility of disorder in the streets by his being there," Wright said.

He said he believes a Negro should have been Nixon's chief adviser on the cities.

But he acknowledged that he had not brought up this complaint during the meeting with the President-elect. He said Nixon was gracious. "He talked and we listened," Wright said.

"No strain," said Moynihan. "This is part of the pleasure and enthusiasm of the times—people speak their minds." But he also denied Wright's assertion about his view on city problems, saying he has for 20 years concentrated on the social structure of urban life as the key to its improvement.

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference also criticized Nixon after the meeting.

He said the President-elect is in need of "redemption," and suggested that the process begin with the designation of the birthday of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jan. 15, as a national holiday.

"Nixon," said Abernathy, "put the Black people and the nation a step backward by failing to name a Negro to his cabinet."

The face-to-face conference, apparently, was more amicable. "We were quite satisfied with the meeting," said John Murphy of the National Newspaper Association. "This is just a beginning."

Monday night, Nixon went to a New York dinner honoring Maurice H. Sans, his Secretary of Commerce and chief campaign fund raiser.

"There is no way I can adequately thank you by words," Nixon told Sans and more than 100 other supporters. "The only way is by performance."

$192 Billion Budget

A preview of the budget President Johnson will present to Congress this week calls for expenditures of $192 billion roughly balanced, providing the surtax is extended at least in part for one year. It will lay down the budgetary guidelines for the first year of the Nixon administration.

Recently, President Johnson said that he hoped to submit a budget for the coming fiscal year starting July 1 showing a "small surplus". With the 10 per cent surcharge, revenues in the coming fiscal year could be expected to grow to about $196 billion—an increase of $10 billion over the current fiscal year—and a little more than is needed to balance a $192 billion budget. A cut to 5 per cent in the surcharge would produce revenues of $191 billion, note quite enough. A 7.5 per cent extension might run into opposition in Congress.

Congressional sources look to Mr. Nixon to cut appropriations in order to balance a budget with a 5 per cent surtax, or even no surtax, as he promised in his campaign. However, the Johnson administration believes its $192 billion budget would offer little or no latitude for cutting either by the Nixon administration or Congress.

This is due to two factors: First, the budget will include $7 billion in unavoidable increases, such as rises in Federal salaries, interest on the Federal debt, medical programs and foreign services. Second, while over all military expenditure for the war in Vietnam will be held down, due to the cessation of bombing, economies in non-Vietnam spending this year may have to be made up before they affect defense.

On the domestic front, the only significant increase is said to be in federal aid to education, and that is modest. There are no substantial increases in other domestic programs. It is to be a year of belt tightening, not of extravagance, to heed public demand for economy.

Kosygin's Four Perils

The four areas in which Soviet Premier Aleksei Kosygin believes urgent steps toward peace are essential in the Middle East, Vietnam, Europe and disarmament. He listed these four perils to international peace in an interview with Mainichi Shimbun of Japan. His solutions are not new.

Settlement of the Middle East crisis was possible, Kosygin said, only on Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab areas, an end of the state of belligerency and an acknowledgement of the territorial integrity of all states in the area. These are the provisions of the United Nations resolution for peace of November, 1967, which has failed to produce peace.

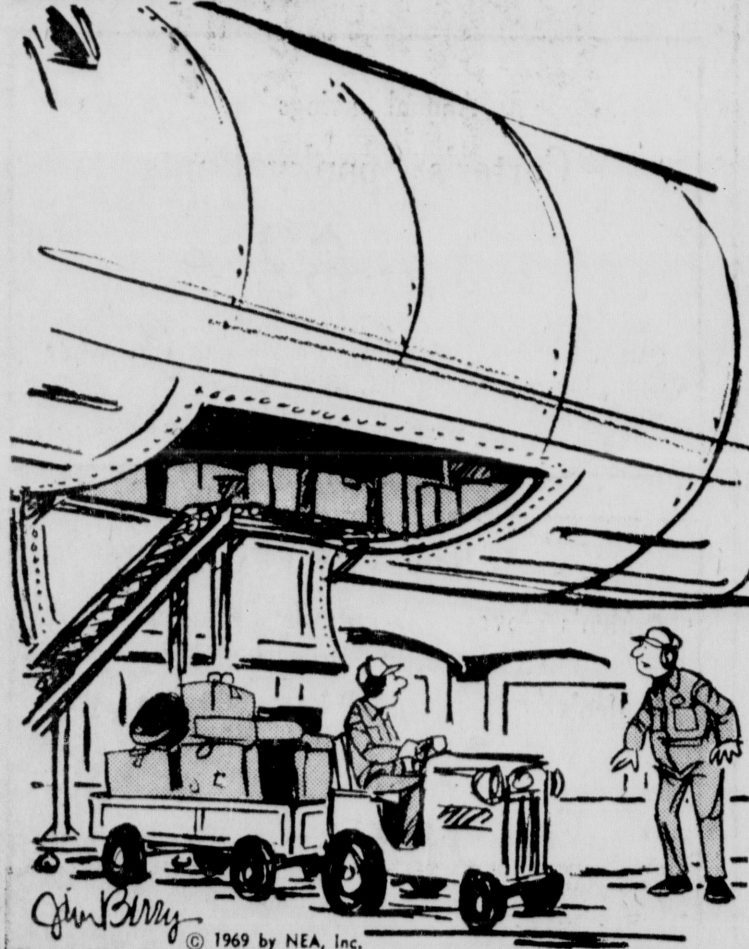

On Vietnam, Kosygin urged an end of military operations and withdrawal of American forces from South Vietnam to open the way for a political settlement. Without a withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops and laying down of arms of the Viet Cong, this would open the way for overwhelming South Vietnam.

On Europe, Kosygin repeated a long-standing demand for a system of collective security and assailed NATO response to the Soviet-led military intervention in Czechoslovakia. Collective security would put the Soviet Union in control of all Europe, not alone her satellites.

He did not expand on disarmament, but it has been a mutual goal sought both by the United States and the Soviet Union, but they have not been able to agree on the details.

Kosygin's interview showed no radical changes in the Soviet's idea of aligning all perils to further Communist conquest of the world.

Politics Is at Bottom Of American Difficulties

WASHINGTON — A feeling of "change" is in the air. It is, of course, stimulated by the prospective exit of the Johnson administration and preparations for the start of a new administration here next week. The demand for "change" has been emphasized by a substantial majority of the voters and is far more than a passing interest of the American people in the gala of an inaugural. For the fact is the people are aroused. They want to see action taken soon. They do not want vague statements offering hope while providing no assurance of a solution of the many troubles afflicting the Nation.

What is at the bottom of America's difficulties today in government? There is no easy answer, but to one who has watched the course of history through many administrations, the prime fault seems to be epitomized in a single word, "politics." Too many decisions are made with an eye to votes of this or that group. Rather than a positive course, the temptation is to try something "in the middle of the road." Instead of dealing decisively and immediately with a plain challenge, the tendency is to apply what is called "gradualism"—a theory that sooner or later things will get better anyway.

The historian who examines the record of the last decade will have to write that many crises were "avoided" only to precipitate bigger ones later on. When a war of sizable proportions gave this country a lop-sided economy, "appeals for restraint" were substituted for laws imposing wage-and-price controls. Labor vehemently opposed the latter, and business wasn't too enthusiastic either. President Johnson, however, basically appeared to be afraid of losing the support which is mobilized politically by the labor unions.

The same thing occurred when a new minimum-wage law was enacted. The pressure didn't come from the workers in low-wage groups, most of whom are not even members of unions. The law was passed instead because of the support lined up among the large labor unions, which knew it would automatically push up all wage scales above the minimum. It didn't seem to matter that prices would be pushed up, too.

As for the Vietnam war, the policy of "gradualism" was tried. It was opposed by the military. The delay not only gave the enemy time to get more arms and support from the Soviet Union and Red China but enabled the anti-war critics to gather a larger and larger following inside the United States.

From a political standpoint, the Democratic administration didn't make the gains it expected from "gradualism," and the enemy got considerable comfort out of the rise of the anti-war sentiment throughout America.

Policies of dilly-dallying have done great harm also in the handling of the internal "war" across this country. The crime wave has risen to unprecedented heights. Disorders are numerous. Rebellion in the colleges has merley emphasized the lack of firmness on the part of those who have authority to punish misbehavior.

Much of this attitude of indifference may be related to the demoralization of the police forces in many parts of the land, or it may have resulted from the loose way the courts have ignored the civil rights of law-abiding citizens while criminals and "demonstrators" have been given a free hand. But officials must have courage. This means a willingness to forgo the imaginary "popularity" which supposedly can be obtained by reluctance to use vigorously the powers of prosecution.

The eyes of the nation will be focused now on the new attorney general. For what the federal government does can materially influence the local governments, too. Many problems — Vietnam, law and order, inflation and the rigid economic controls which alone can save the country from a deep depression — can be tackled with a resoluteness that the American people will be able quickly to perceive and support if it is manifested by the new administration. The central idea is to seek not what seems good politically but what is good for the nation even if for a time there are discomforts and some adversity. "Gradualism" is but another word for postponement, delay and confusion. Decisiveness commands respect and support although it doesn't always win votes right away.

Nixon on Spot as Trade Protection Clamor Rises

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — As President-elect Richard Nixon scans the whole foreign policy field before taking office, he can find no more vexing second-level problem than what to do about reviving trade protectionism in this country.

Some 115 proposals to fix import quotas on steel, textiles, oil, meat, dairy products and many others await review by the 91st Congress. Somehow this avalanche was halted in 1968, but pressures for action this year are stronger than ever.

The somewhat more conservative complexion of the new Congress suggests that resistance to this flow may be weaker. If one or two key quota measures get through, the barriers may burst and the nation could witness the heaviest onslaught of protectionism seen since the early 1930s. That earlier flood produced counterwaves from other countries, which helped lunge the world into deep depression.

Even if the new president decides finally to range himself against the protectionist surge, it is not entirely certain that he can stop it. With last year's slightly less conservative Congress in action, the word then was that major quota bills which could get to the floor in both houses probably would win to a sweep big enough to make possible an override of a presidential veto.

The issue has become a tantalizing one. The dangers of a new round of quota restrictions are gravely evident. But imports have risen to the level where they are today contributing substantially to our heretofore balance of payments deficit in world trade.

A textile quota bill made the most headway in the previous Congress, but now steel has become the focus of attention. Not since 1959 have steel exports topped imports. That year a long steel strike shifted the balance, and the disproportion has been growing steadily. Final 1968 figures are not available, but imports probably will reach a record high beyond 15 million tons. One forecast goes as high as 18 million tons.

Obviously steel is in trouble. Users, fearing domestic strikes, buy abroad. They are not unmindful, either, that the foreign price may undercut domestic prices by up to $40

Interior Dept. Is Soft Spot For Scandal; Auto Air Pollution

WASHINGTON—Only once in American history has a member of the Cabinet been convicted—Secretary of the Interior Albert K. Fall who was guilty of taking a $100,000 bribe from Sinclair Oil in connection with a giveaway of the Teapot Dome naval oil preserve.

One other, Richard A. Ballinger, Secretary of the Interior under Taft, was accused of accepting a $250 law fee—before he entered the Cabinet—and later as a member of the Cabinet disposing of 5,000 acres of Alaskan coal lands to his former client.

The Ballinger scandal led to his resignation and the subsequent defeat of President Taft by Woodrow Wilson after Teddy Roosevelt bitterly attacked Taft over Ballinger and his failure to carry out conservation.

Since then, and since the Teapot Dome oil scandal convulsed the nation, every President and every Congress has been sensitive over the question of oil reserves and of natural resources and the Secretary of the Interior who is supposed to protect them.

During the Truman administration, Truman was forced to recall from the Senate the name of his old friend Ed Pauley to be Under Secretary of the Navy because Pauley was an oilman, and the Navy was owner of the Elk Hill's oil reserves. The Senate balked at confirming him.

Ever since Teddy Roosevelt's day, the Republican party has considered conservation one of its bedrock policies. Democrats of late have equally ardent champions of conservation, and present Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall is one of the foremost. Nevertheless, Republicans have considered that they are the birthright guardians of the nation's forests, wild life, streams, lakes, shorelines and original beauty.

There was a period under Eisenhower when Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay won the nickname of "Generous Doug" because of his generosity in handing out his mining claims and drilling permits on the public domain. However, reaction was so strong that McKay resigned; and Fred Seaton, who replaced him, did a conscientious job of carrying out the GOP policy of conservation.

All of this is why the appointment of Gov. Walter J. Hickel of Alaska to be Nixon's Secretary of the Interior is certain to result in fireworks at Hickel's Senate confirmation hearings tomorrow.

Friend of Oil

Hickel stuck his chin out at his initial press conference by antagonizing every conservationist in the country. Republican or Democrat, including the daughter of Teddy Roosevelt, Alice Longworth, by stating that he didn't believe in putting natural resources under lock and key just for conservation's sake. He also made it quite clear that he intended to reverse the executive order of Secretary Udall which froze all government lands in Alaska until Congress could decide which of the lands should go to the Eskimos, Indians and Aleuts.

If you examine Hickel's record minutely you discover a lot of other points which the Senate Interior Committee should check into carefully before confirming him. Here are some of them:

Point No. 1—Hickel is an oil and gas man. Until he became governor, he was chairman of the Anchorage Natural Gas Company, which freezes natural gas and sells it to Japan. This puts him in the same position as Ed Pauley, who failed to get confirmation as Undersecretary of the Navy, though Hickel is in a far more sensitive spot than Pauley because as Secretary of the Interior he will have several million acres of government oil land under him.

Point No. 2—Hickel was elected governor with the active support of oil companies. Alaskan law does not require filing of campaign contributions, so the exact amount of oil funds is not available. However, Hickel waged a well financed campaign with a lot of expensive Madison Avenue gimmicks, and the oil donations are reported to have been around $400,000.

Point No. 3—Immediately after becoming governor, Hickel fired the head of his minerals resources division and appointed in his place Tom Kelly, former executive vice president of Halibut Oil Co., and son-in-law of Mike Halibout. Hickel is reported to be in various land deals with Halibut.

Point No. 4—Hickel's chief booster to be Secretary of the Interior has been Robert O. Anderson, heavy contributor to the Nixon campaign and head of Atlantic-Richfield Oil. This company scored one of the big oil strikes of recent years on Alaska's north slope with two wells which are bringing in some 2,000 barrels per day. This compares with 100 to 500 barrels for their southern counterparts.

The man who is Secretary of the Interior will have considerable authority as to where Atlantic-Richfield can pick up further leases.

Point No. 5—Hickel, after the death of Sen. Bob Bartlett, appointed to the Senate Tom Stevens, former counsel for Atlantic-Richfield Oil and other oil companies.

Point No. 6—As governor, Hickel opposed an increase in the severance tax against oil companies operating in Alaska. The University of Alaska had found, after a thorough study of oil, that the oil companies could afford to pay a 10 per cent tax on all oil taken from the ground in Alaska. Hickel, however, rejected this, asked for a tax study of his own. Later the Alaskan legislature passed a modest tax of 3 per cent, which the governor still opposed, even though some of the oil executives had expected to settle for seven.

Thus has the genial Wally Hickel fought for the oil companies. After Jan. 20 he'll be expected, as Secretary of the Interior, to turn round and protect the public from the oil companies he has befriended.

Air Pollution Crackdown

Unless the White House intervenes, the big four of the automobile industry will be served with an antitrust suit just before Johnson leaves office on the charge of conspiring to prevent development of a muffler device to curb air pollution.

Henry Ford has been trying to get an appointment with the President to head off the Justice Department. Unless he succeeds, the auto industry will be charged with conspiring to prevent four other companies from developing anti-pollution devices which can be attached to auto mufflers. Simultaneously they failed to prevent pollution themselves.

The Justice Department action results from a grand jury investigation in Los Angeles which began in 1966, continued for a year with a view to criminal indictments, then dropped any criminal action. A civil case has been prepared by the Justice Department instead.

Justice Department attorneys have found that four enterprising small companies have produced anti-smog devices which had been approved by the California Air Pollution Board in June 1964, but could not get the big four of the auto industry to use them. The four companies are:

Norris-Thermidor working with W. R. Grace; American Machine and Foundry; Arvin Industries working with Universal Oil Products; and American Cyanamid working with Walker Manufacturing Company.

Thirteen years ago, in 1953, the auto industry agreed to get together and pool research for combating pollution. However, Justice Department investigators found that this actually had the effect of freezing out competitors. There was no incentive to produce anti-pollution devices. When the four above-named companies developed a device to put on car mufflers, however, the big four decided to produce their own devices. This is the basis of the antitrust action which Justice Department officials have prepared.

Other motor moguls besides Ford are reported using his influence at the White House. Ford, however, is a Johnson intimate. He has been a frequent guest at the White House, and heads up a business group which has been giving job training to young Negroes.

The Justice Department, however, has the case cut and dried and ready to be announced on a moment's notice, unless LBJ intervenes.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Ambassadors and Diplomacy

President-elect Richard M. Nixon soon will be nominating ambassadors throughout the world. The process can be highly personal—and misunderstood.

The decisive thing that interests a chief of state in a host country is how well the ambassador stands with the President back in Washington. Is the ambassador actually close to the President, does he really speak for him, and is he actually an influence on the President? This is what counts, famously so. Nothing else comes a close second.

The difference between a minister and an ambassador is that a minister is accredited (only) to a foreign government whereas an ambassador is accredited by the President of the U.S. to the chief of state. He is the President's alter ego in the host country. As such, he takes precedence there over the visiting Vice-President, Secretary of State or any American official except the President himself. And he serves entirely "at the pleasure of the President" and thus automatically resigns when a new President takes over.

A TOPS ONLY is a cable from the President or Secretary of State only to the ambassador. A NIAC is for night action. A NOFORN (no foreigners) is for American eyes only. Virginia's William Short was the first diplomatic nomination—by President Washington—to the Senate of the new United States. The 15th Century Italians were the first to establish permanent embassies abroad but not until the Congress of Vienna in 1814 were diplomatic privileges—including immunity from arrest and taxation—codified.

The Marine guard you see in our embassies is attached to the ambassador personally, not to the embassy. Their status and acceptance stem back to medieval times, and earlier, when kings were afraid that if they sent an ambassador to some king he might be arrested and not returned. Thus armed guards from his homeland can accompany our ambassador. But in Switzerland, and there alone in all the world, they can be neither armed nor in uniform. Neutral Switzerland prohibits this.

The immunities extend to include all embassy employees certified by the ambassador to the diplomatic list. When an arrest occurs he immediately invokes diplomatic immunity at the host country's Foreign Office. Failure to do so would establish unworkable and dangerous precedents. The Foreign Office must call on the police to release the culprit. Then generally the ambassador, speaking informally, will express his embarrassment and advise the Foreign Minister that he is sending the offender out of the country at once.

If not, the Foreign Minister could ask for the offender's recall. And, incidentally, President Cleveland once requested the British Ambassador's recall merely for suggesting to a naturalized Londoner how he should vote in our country.

Statesmanship is the art of creating policy. Diplomacy is the art of executing it. The business of diplomacy is to think things, but not always to say them. A good diplomat improvises what he says but does not intend to say. The four useful D's are deliberation, discretion, delicacy, and mutuality is the operative word.

Expect Sirhan to Tell Own Story About Slaying of Sen. Kennedy

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan will almost certainly appear on the witness stand at his trial to tell his own story of the slaying of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, a member of the defense staff disclosed today.

The 24-year-old Arab immigrant was described as acutely aware of the fact that only his motivation and state of mind can sway a jury toward leniency and to be ready to go into those matters in detail.

Defense counsel had maintained throughout the preliminary maneuvering that the Pasadena, Calif., youth would never be called to testify.

One juror was tentatively selected Monday during a full day of questioning eight men and women, and she still was subject to dismissal through one of the 20 peremptory challenges given each side.

Mrs. Rosa Molina, a widow and a nurse, hesitated for long moments and then answered "yes" when deputy Dist. Atty. David Fitts asked her: "Would you have the courage to come down from the jury room and say (to Sirhan) 'For the murder of Senator Kennedy you die in the gas chamber'?"

Selection of jurors was resuming today at 12:30 p. m. EST.

Narcotics Case Being Heard In County Court

The prosecution is expected to complete its case today in trial term of county court against Ronald J. Augustine, 20 of Sunrise Park, Town of Ulster.

Augustine is charged in a July 1967 grand jury indictment with feloniously selling narcotics and unlawful possession of a narcotic drug. Francis Martocci is representing the defendant and Assistant District Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon is presenting the case for the prosecution. County Judge Raymond J. Mino is presiding.

MacKinnon in his opening statement said the defendant gave a packet of vegetable matter, later analyzed as marijuana, to an undercover narcotics agent, Richard Metal.

Martocci in his statement asked for dismissal of the charges. When this was denied by Judge Mino he explained the incidents leading up to the basis for the charges. Martocci said the undercover agent gave the defendant $60 to purchase some marijuana, but the buy was never made. The defendant's attorney claims he (Augustine) never sold or possessed narcotics.

Metal was the first witness for the prosecution and through questioning by MacKinnon revealed how the contact with Augustine was allegedly made. Metal said he was given a packet of dried vegetable materials by the defendant, "to take care of him for a couple of days. Metal testified he gave Augustine $60 to purchase a half-pound of marijuana, but the merchandise was never delivered.

In cross-examination, Martocci questioned Metal on his background and several times attempted to shake the credibility of the undercover agent. Martocci said the contact with Augustine, James Clark had been promised special favors in regard to charges against him if he would cooperate with the police to "setup Augustine." He said Metal had taken the identity of a buyer from New York City and when Augustine had failed to produce the marijuana for the $60, threatened the defendant over the telephone.

Augustine was one of eight apprehended in a series of narcotics raids in June and July 1967 by city police, the sheriff's office, state police, the district attorney's office and the State Narcotics Bureau.

Defense attorney Grant B. Cooper revealed at the outset of the jury questioning that Sirhan would not deny that he fired the shots in the Ambassador Hotel which killed Kennedy and wounded five other persons standing nearby.

Cooper told the first prospective juror, George E. Doudle, an employee of an aerospace firm, that the defense would concentrate on the "intent" of Sirhan. "Knowing that there will be no denial that Sirhan fired the shots that killed Senator Kennedy and accepting that as a fact, would you be able to weigh without any bias the question of his intent to commit the crime?" Cooper asked.

"No, I don't believe I could judge the intent," Doudle said. He was excused immediately by Judge Herbert V. Walker.

Twenty five prospective jurors were ushered into the fortress-like courtroom at the opening of the Monday session. Unlike newsmen and members of the public, they were not required to undergo the close physical search by sheriff's deputies.

Judge Walker upheld the defense argument that such a search would create an "oppressive atmosphere" prejudicial to Sirhan. He also agreed to change the previous plan of having a dozen uniformed deputies in the court. There were only three persons in uniform, one a woman, but there were a dozen plainclothes officers in the room.

Fitts and Cooper clashed briefly when the district attorney referred to the defense "strategy" of admitting the physical shooting of Kennedy by Sirhan.

"It's not a strategy, it's a fact," Cooper said in his booming voice.

Sirhan stared intently at the jury during questioning and occasionally whispered furiously to defense lawyer Russell Parsons. His normal expression is a slight smile and it did not change during the questions about the death sentence.

Police Ticket Six Motorists

Kingston police ticketed six motorists Monday for vehicle and traffic violations.

Ronald J. Augustine, 21, of Sunrise Park and Judy A. Hummer, 20, of Hurley Avenue Extension, were cited for passing red lights. Douglas J. Posner, 23, of Lake Katrine, was summoned for speeding and Lauren E. Clark, 28, of Pomona, was booked for passing a stop sign.

Edward DeTemple, 30, of 103 Downs street, was charged with operating a car without inspection sticker and Charles F. Seegers, 45, of 49 Duneman Avenue, was accused of operating an unregistered motor vehicle.

KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN Readers: INTRODUCTORY OFFER brings you to a maximum of

$10,400.00 EXTRA INCOME whenever you are hospitalized

Only $1 covers your entire family for the first month.

★ Pays in addition to any other companies' coverage you have—including Medicare

★ Pays to a maximum of $10,400.00 tax-free cash for each new hospital stay

★ Pays $100.00-A-WEEK cash each time you go to the hospital...even to a maximum of 2 years

★ Guaranteed renewable. At last a hospital plan that guarantees never to cancel your protection no matter how old you get or how many claims you make

★ Pays all cash direct to you (not to doctor or hospital)

★ No age limit—no medical examination

★ No salesman will call

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., FEB. 1, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

ONE out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have tripled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous World Mutual Extra Cash Plan that Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you are hospitalized.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week—beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, World Mutual's Extra Cash Plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00—or even $5.00. Your low price is just $1 for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then continue at World Mutual's regular low insure-by-mail rates.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of this World Mutual $100.00-A-WEEK Hospital Plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance in any other companies! Spend the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctors' bills, mortgage payments—or any necessary but costly extras not fully covered by usual hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why World Mutual developed low-cost Extra Cash protection that helps you pay hospital costs or other expenses!

You get your $100.00 per week—from your first day in the hospital, and as long as you are confined there, even to a maximum of 2 years, if necessary. And, when you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, World Mutual pays out an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE CASH BENEFIT. You receive not $100.00, but $200.00 a week. Your spouse receives not $100.00, but $200.00 a week. That's $400.00 in all, in cash payments to you every week while you both remain in the hospital—to the full maximum of 2 years!

For older folks—greater protection than you ever would have thought possible!

Right now, world advancing age prevent you from getting hospital insurance, or income protection with another company? Or if you could get a policy elsewhere, would you have to pay a big premium for it? Your "life saver" could be this World Mutual Extra Cash Plan—because World Mutual welcomes folks of all ages into its Plan. Even if you're 65 or over, even if you're OVER 100—each time you go to the hospital you collect $70.00 a week for the first 13 weeks, and a full $100.00 weekly while continuously hospitalized thereafter...to a maximum of 2 years!

Guaranteed renewable for life.

And you can count on World Mutual's wonderful protection no matter how old you get or how many times you collect from us. It is written into your policy that we cannot cancel your

PAYS to a maximum of $10,400.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital.

PAYS to a maximum of $10,010.00 CASH when you're 65 or over—at the rate of $70.00-A-WEEK for the first 13 weeks, and a full $100.00 weekly while you remain in the hospital thereafter (for 91 more weeks if necessary)...in addition to whatever you collect from Medicare.

PAYS to a maximum of $41,600.00 CASH when both husband and wife are hospitalized at same time for accidental injury, for as long as both remain in the hospital—at the rate of $400.00-A-WEEK.

PAYS to a maximum of $2,000.00 CASH for complete accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

PAYS $100.00-A-WEEK CASH for each pregnancy ending in a hospital stay, when both husband and wife are insured for entire pregnancy and have Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits.

PAYS to a maximum of $6,240.00 at the rate of $60.00 A-WEEK when a child is hospitalized for accident or illness (with Coverage for Children added to the basic plan).

NO age limit—no medical examination required—no salesman will call.

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT TO A MAXIMUM OF $10,010.00 IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with the World Mutual Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or health insurance you may have in any other companies. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, World Mutual pays you $70.00 a week for the first 13 weeks and a full $100.00 weekly while continuously hospitalized thereafter...to a maximum of 91 additional weeks, if necessary! You can receive to a maximum of $10,010.00 for each new illness or injury when hospitalized!

protection after you've made a lot of claims, or become old—or both. It is GUARANTEED RENEWABLE FOR LIFE! (Of course, if deception is used in making application the policy may be ineffective.)

And that's not all. Suppose you have a growing family—This World Mutual Plan (#WNL 19-968)...

... Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits when pregnancy results in hospitalization.

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that pays cash direct to you to help buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured for the entire period of pregnancy and have added Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days—as long as necessary—you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement to a maximum of 2 years!

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits...you get all this:

Added cash benefit: A maximum of $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check of $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of readjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose Coverage for Children (with or without Maternity Benefits) and all your dependent, unmarried children from ages 1 month through 18 years will be covered, too! World Mutual pays to a maximum of $6,240.00 at the rate of $60.00 a week when your youngster goes to the hospital...for tonsillitis, appendicitis or any other illness or injury. Yes, you will receive $60.00 a week cash, week after week while the child is in the hospital—even to a maximum of 104 weeks!

We pay your premiums when you are not able.

To safeguard family security—if you (the person to whom the basic plan is issued) are hospitalized just 8 weeks or more, all premiums for you and all Covered Members of your family that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by World Mutual! And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 180 days, World Mutual will again PAY ALL PREMIUMS WHICH COME DUE WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL—TO A MAXIMUM OF 2 YEARS per confinement! This means you pay no further premiums while you are still hospitalized for this condition, yet your full protection remains in force!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON.

Only $1 for First Month—Money-Back Guarantee. You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only one dollar! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Extra Cash Hospital Plan must be mailed on the convenient Enrollment-Application NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date shown.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your World Mutual policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; where care is in a U.S. Government hospital; pregnancy, except if provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy...during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will even be covered for the condition after the policy has been in effect for only 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is covered immediately!

How can $1 buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But World Mutual can now provide you and your entire family with tax-free Extra Cash Protection for just $1 the first month. How? Because we enroll a large number of people at one time—direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone—and the savings are passed on to you!

Make your decision carefully.

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensable doctor, surgical and nursing services that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your doctor bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

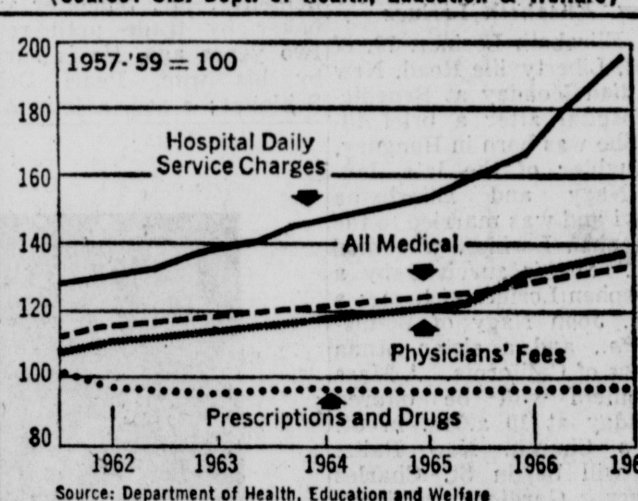

Why you must act before the deadline date shown on your Enrollment-Application—just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance policy—only a few days? Because we must receive your Enrollment-Application the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive your Enrollment-Application. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then—show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still—show it to your own insurance man... even though he may very well be working for another company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere—at any price!

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

(Source: U.S. Dept. of Health, Education & Welfare)

Source: Department of Health, Education and Welfare

Govt. figures reveal your present health protection... may no longer protect you against today's rising medical costs! Don't leave your loved ones defenseless! Act at once to add coverage that provides to a maximum of $10,400.00 health protection for only $1 for the first month for entire family.

Money back guarantee—in case you change your mind.

Even after you mail your Enrollment-Application below... even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish... even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days and your dollar will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever. Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind—you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes". That's right, you will be covered all this time for any accident or illness which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection.

Here are the wonderful low rates.

The following rate chart shows how little it costs after the first month to cover yourself, your spouse, and any adult dependents. Each person must be 16 or over, and pays (per person) the rate shown for his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
16-44	only $3.45
45-49	only $3.95
50-54	only $4.45
55-59	only $4.95
60-69	only $5.95
70-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

Only $2 more covers all your dependent, unmarried children

...from the ages of 1 month through 18 years. And then, if you wish, just add $1 more to that, and you're completely covered for Maternity Benefits too! Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost!

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now—"later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your Enrollment-Application into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. The sooner you mail your Enrollment-Application, the sooner your protection starts. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 19 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell us how World Mutual's EXTRA CASH HOSPITAL PLAN gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital? $100.00 per week—to the full maximum of $10,400.00 cash. (If you're over 65, you'll collect to a maximum of $10,010.00 cash benefits on top of whatever Medicare pays you. $70.00-a-week for first 13 weeks, and $100.00 weekly while you remain continuously hospitalized afterwards, for a maximum of 91 additional weeks!) You collect cash not just for yourself, but for all covered members of your family when they are hospitalized! And you collect cash even if you're in the hospital for only one day!

2. When do I collect $2,000.00 extra cash for accidents? We pay you $1,000.00 extra cash for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye, and $2,000.00 extra cash for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes—even if the loss occurs as long as 3 months after the accident.

3. What if I am hospitalized by the same illness—again? You still collect your $100.00-a-week extra cash to the full maximum of $10,400.00. You need only have resumed full normal activities for just 180 days—then if you are hospitalized for the same illness you collect all over again.

4. If I receive more money than my total medical bills—do I keep the "extra cash"? You certainly do! We always pay you the full $100.00-a-week—all the way to the maximum of $10,400.00 cash. And even if your bills add up to just part of that amount, you still keep every dollar of the extra cash—tax-free! That's why this policy's called an extra cash plan. It's perfectly possible under this plan for you to come out of the hospital with extra dollars you can use for bills, rent, or anything else. And if you already have some health or hospital insurance—all the better for you. Because we pay you anyway, on top of what they pay you! On top of Blue Cross, Major Medical, Workmen's Compensation, or whatever insurance policies you have in other companies!

5. Do you pay me cash even for my children, too? And...for my "future" children? Yes! Many health plans don't cover pregnancy. But we do. When Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits is added to the basic plan, you collect maximum cash benefits of $10,400.00—for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)

6. Will you pay me $100.00-a-week cash—even for pregnancy? Yes! Many health plans don't cover pregnancy. But we do. When Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits is added to the basic plan, you collect maximum cash benefits of $10,400.00—for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)

7. Are there times I might collect as much as $20,800.00...as much as $41,600.00? Yes! Many health plans don't cover pregnancy. But we do. When Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits is added to the basic plan, you collect maximum cash benefits of $10,400.00—for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)

8. Can I spend my cash benefits any way I please? Yes! Spend the money any way you choose. Use it to pay your hospital, doctor, and nursing bills. Use it to pay for rent, food, clothing, or to replace any income you lose due to hospitalization. All cash comes straight to you (not to doctor or hospital unless you request it) so you alone decide how it is to be spent!

9. Must I pay taxes on the money you send me? Certainly NOT! Every dollar we send you is 100% tax-free.

10. Am I ever allowed to stop paying premiums during a long stay in the hospital—yet still remain fully covered? Yes, you are! All premiums that come due after you—the person to whom the basic policy is issued—are in the hospital just 8 weeks or more...do not have to be paid! Yes, even if you are in for months, a year, or longer! We pay all premiums for you, and for all covered members of your family, too, while you remain hospitalized. You aren't expected to pay us back either.

11. How can you give me so much—for so little? Because you buy your policy directly from the company. You don't deal through middlemen. You eliminate costly processing charges and "red tape" that are added into the cost of most insurance. That's the reason why World Mutual can provide you with exceptional high-savings health insurance protection, including a full month's coverage for your family for only $1!

12. How do I go about making a claim? We invite you to contact CASH BENEFITS HEADQUARTERS direct. Whether you want to make a claim, or just ask us a question, don't hesitate to contact us. As a World Mutual policyowner, you are entitled to prompt, courteous and direct attention at all times...and you will get it.

13. Because World Mutual costs less...do I get less protection? Absolutely not. You get more! $100.00 weekly cash payments for a maximum of 2 years for each hospital stay. And that goes for all covered members of your family. Yet all you pay to put this policy in force for one month is...$1. And if you want, continue this protection afterwards at the regular low World Mutual rate! That's why we urge you—for your own satisfaction—to compare these big cash benefits with any comparable policy issued by any other insurance company...anywhere.

14. Now tell me what's the "catch"—what doesn't my policy cover? Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your policy covers everything except conditions caused by (a) war or act of war; (b) mental disorders; (c) where care is in a U.S. government hospital; (d) pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and (e) any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy—but even this last "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for only two years. Everything else is definitely covered.

15. Will you cancel my policy if I make too many claims? Or because of age? No—positively not! We don't care how many claims you make. How often you collect from us—how old you become. Your low rate will never be raised and your valuable protection will never be canceled for these reasons...because a GUARANTEED-RENEWABLE-FOR-LIFE clause has been written into your policy. The only way your rate can be adjusted, up or down, is if rates are adjusted on all policies of this type throughout your state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)

16. If I'm hospitalized less than a week—do you still pay in full? Yes! We pay you every day you're in the hospital. There's no "waiting period" before you start collecting.

17. What are the requirements to enroll in this Extra Cash Hospital Plan? You must not have been refused or had canceled any health, hospital or life insurance due to reasons of health; and, to qualify during the enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date shown in the Enrollment-Application.

18. Besides saving money—are there any other advantages of joining World Mutual during the enrollment period? Yes. A very important one is that you don't need to complete a regular application—just the brief Enrollment-Application in the corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no extra requirements for eligibility, and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!

19. How do I enroll? Fill out the brief Enrollment-Application and mail it with just $1 for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: The World Mutual Health and Accident Insurance Co., 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia Pa. 19154.

Kingston-Rhinecliff Ferry Again? Across-River Group Waxes Hopeful

By SHANE CROSBY

RHINECLIFF—The possibility of limited ferry service between this Hudson River eastern shore site and the City of Kingston was expressed here recently by a member of a group seeking the preservation of the Rhinebeck Town Dock.

Two hundred-fifty years of ferry service ended in 1957 when the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge opened to traffic. Since that time, groups on both sides of the Hudson have sought to restore the terminals of the historic service.

The Town of Rhinebeck recently approved plans to at least clean up the dock, more of a safety measure, while a group of citizens are seeking funds to begin restoration. The town had planned to dismantle the buildings and pilings of the dock after one too many winters had taken its toll of damage.

Former Supervisor of Rhinebeck Otto Ruge, who died last month, gave approval to dismantle the main building on the property and to await further reports from citizens engaged in restoration plans. Highway department workmen will begin the task later this month.

Envisions Rec Area

Meanwhile, residents of the Rhinecliff area are putting finishing touches on plans for the area. Ernest K. vonBrand, who lives near the site on Long Dock Road, and considered to be the one person who began the restoration effort, envisions a complete recreation area that would include one of the few small boat launching points in the Dutchess-Ulster riverfront area, has gradually sunk into disrepair to a point where "at least a limited" ferry service might be conducted between the two points for use on weekends and more expanded service during the summer. The service would not be likely to include automobile transfer, but more of a tourist passenger service.

Special

The George Clinton, last of the many ferries, gently slipped away from its mooring on the Kingston side Jan. 2, 1957 and headed down river to Newburgh, marking the end of an era that began in the 1740s.

Shortly after the Clinton left the scene, the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge opened and by March the New York State Bridge Authority announced plans to sell the two ferry slips, one at Kingston and the other at Rhinecliff.

Since then the Rhinecliff dock renewed daily use of the ferry, because of ice conditions, as before the bridge, but, in an age that wanted ever-faster transportation.

The bridge overcomes all of this. It offers speedy crossing at all times of the day or night under all weather conditions. It lacks but one thing, and that is personality. When the George Clinton makes the final crossing, she will bring to an end one of our most venerable local institutions and place a period to over 250 years of history.

A Comment on the Past

Donald C. Ringwald, noted historian on steamship matters, wrote at the end of the ferry service's life: "...Making lengthy detours at night when there might not be any ferry service, or driving for hours in winter weather to reach the

Bloomington FC Adding Truck

BLOOMINGTON—The Bloomington Fire Company is putting its best foot forward for 1969 with the announcement of the ordering of a new fire truck. The new truck will come completely equipped according to Herb Faurote, fire chief. The new apparatus will have a load capacity of 1000 gallons of water with a 1000 gallon a minute pump. The Pierce Auto Body Works of Appleton, Wis., was awarded the contract for the new truck. The expected delivery date for the truck is sometime in October.

The annual fire report for 1968 listed a total of 46 alarms. Out of this total seven were house fires, 11 brush and grass fires, 7 false alarms, and 5 mutual aid calls within the Township of Rosendale.

Seven firemen from the Bloomington Fire Company completed the N.Y. State 12 week course on the Essentials of Firemanship this past year. Starting Jan. 16 a New York State three week course on arson will be held in the Bloomington firehouse. The State instructor for this course will be George Garrison, Chief of Ellenville.

Bloomington's re-elected fire chief, Herb Faurote, announced the 1969 officers for the company. The officers are: 1st Asst. Chief Warren Prandoni, 2nd Asst. Chief Oscar Hahn, Captains, Robert Hicks, Jack Perrett, Harold Gentles, 1st Lieutenant Marty Contini, 2nd Lieutenant John Lane.

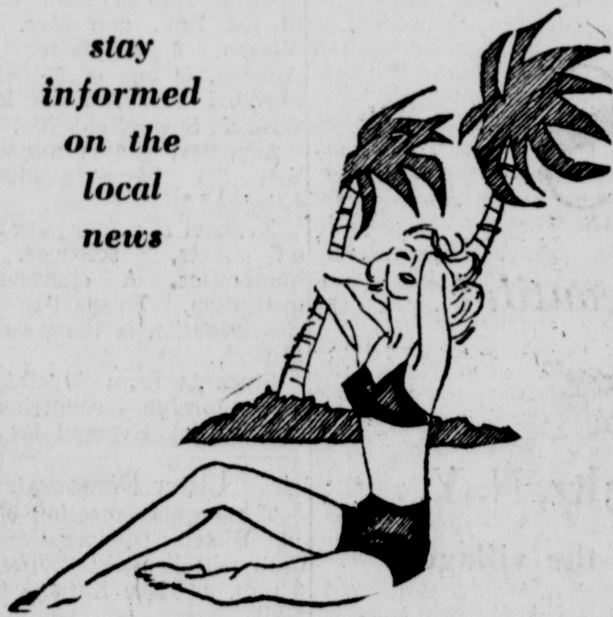

The company's fourth annual officers installation dinner will be held Jan. 18 at 7 p.m. in the Bloomington Inn, Route 32. Guests will be George Garrison, Ellenville Fire Department and N.Y.S. Fire Training Instructor; Harold Sanford, ex-deputy chief of the Kingston Fire Department; Albert Morelli, chief of Active Hose Co. No. 1, Rosendale. Chairmen for the event are Warren and James Prandoni.

The company's re-elected administrative officers for this year are: President, Charles Peterson, vice president, Alan Tyler, Secretary Harold Gentles, Treasurer and 1968 Fireman of the Year Warren Prandoni.

Right now is the proper time to get your first permanent of the new year so that when Easter time comes, you will be ready for your second permanent wave as planned. Stay beautiful this year with regular planned visits to Mickey's.

We will accommodate as many walk-ins as possible. Try us.
MICKEY'S BEAUTY & BARBER SHOP
50 N. FRONT ST. FE 8-3275
Closed Mondays. Open Tuesday and Thursday evenings

Miss Kathy Ellen Beaudreau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beaudreau, 64 May Street, Chicopee, Mass., became the bride of Michael Douglas Quick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Quick, 42 Russell Street, Saugerties, on Saturday, Dec. 28, at Faith Methodist Church, Fairview, Mass.

The Rev. Hugh Ward Miller officiated at the double ring ceremony. Roger Lacross, organist, accompanied the bride. Raymond Beaudreau, father of the bride, who sang traditional Arrangements of white flowers decorated the altar and the family pews were marked with white satin bows, flowers and greens.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a floor-length gown of white velvet, fashioned with a jabot yoke of Vencie lace. The high neckline and long slim sleeves were edged with lace and the chapel train was detachable. A camelot hat, studded with pearls held her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a cascade of white carnations and roses with holly and ivy.

Miss Kolts will become the bride of Morgan Well on Saturday, Jan. 18, at 2:30 p.m. at the Church of the Comforter.

served as maid of honor for her cousin. She wore a floor-length gown of ruby red velvet, styled with an empire waist, long sleeves with ruffles at the wrist, and a high neckline. Her shoulder length veil fell from drop pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pompons, accented with red roses.

Attendants were Mrs. James D. Clark, sister of the bride, Killingsworth, Conn.; Miss Patricia Quick, Brookline, Mass.; and Miss Susan Lupien, Chicopee, Mass. Their gowns and headpieces were styled identically to that of the honor attendant, and they also carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and pompons, accented with red roses.

Miss Donna Beaudreau, cousin of the bride, Holyoke, Mass., served as junior attendant, and Miss Colleen Quick, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. They wore ruby floor-length gowns of velvet, fashioned with short puffed sleeves and white organdy eyelet pinafore flowers. Their headpieces were made from white carnations and red sweetheart roses and they carried small colonial bouquets of white carnations and sweetheart roses.

Robert Quick, Saugerties, was best man for his brother. Ushers were James Stay, uncle of the bridegroom, Saugerties; James Clark, brother-in-law of the bride, Killingsworth, Conn.; and Bertram Quick Jr., Saugerties. James Clark, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

After the wedding a reception for 150 guests was held at the Wyckoff Park Country Club, Holyoke, Mass.

The bride is a graduate of Chicopee Comprehensive High School and is employed by Valley Bank and Trust, Springfield, Mass.

Her husband was graduated from Saugerties High School. He is serving with the U.S. Air Force, stationed at Anderson Air Force Base, Guam.

Doing the Right Thing

NO ONE BUT THE BRIDE EVER CUTS THE CAKE

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I attended a wedding reception at which a friend of the bride's family was responsible for the entire procedure of cutting the wedding cake. I was told that it was considered an honor to be asked to serve in this way. From what I observed of the difficulties of managing a decorated multi-tiered cake while attired in clothes appropriate for a wedding guest, I came to the conclusion that it was more an imposition than an honor. Am I being unduly critical?—Mrs. Franklyn

Dear Mrs. Franklyn: I never cease to be amazed! One of the oldest traditions I know of—and it existed in many different cultures—is that of the bride cutting (or breaking, or crumbling, or sprinkling) and dispensing at least the first slice of the wedding cake. I've NEVER heard of anyone doing it for her. The point is not whether it's an honor or an imposition—it is simply that it is something that the bride, with the groom's help, does herself.

Cranks Cause Change in Social Rule

Dear Mrs. Post: An unfortunate practice has come into being in our community, dictated by extreme necessity, and once again proving that customs and social mores are often adjusted because of expediency.

Although authorities in social customs have always stated that a married woman goes by her husband's name at all times, the women in our community have in the last few years had their names listed in the social pages under their own names, rightly or wrongly. Mrs. John Jones no longer dares to contribute her name and photograph to charitable organizations; for the moment the photo, plus name, of an attractive young matron is published, she is subjected to a series of obnoxious, frightening telephone calls by cranks who never let up. Husbands don't like the idea of having unlisted phone numbers because of business, so they've laid the law down about their wives being "in the paper."

I know the original ruling still holds under most circumstances, but I think you will agree that when breaking a rule becomes this necessary, one does so without compunction.—Sylvia C.

Dear Mrs. C.: This is one of the saddest commentaries on our times that I have heard! Thank heavens that not all communities have such problems—even cities such as New York continue to identify married women by their husband's names. Poor Mary Jones or Sue Smith have lost their husbands one way or another—and no stranger reading the paper could think otherwise.

I cannot argue with the reasoning in your community when such dreadful results follow the publishing of a married woman's name as Mrs. John Jones. I can only hope that the situation will improve to the extent that it will be possible for her to appear as she should—as still married to the man who gave her his name.

Freeman 'Aims' for Selection of 1969 Page One Valentine Queen

By JOAN L. WOJNOSKI

Attention all single area "with-it" belles between ages 17-21.

Are beauty contests definitely your bag? Have you always wanted to REALLY do your thing? Here's a happening in your own back yard. It's the Daily Freeman's second annual Page One Valentine Queen contest and all county swimmers are invited to get in on the action.

As for requirements, what could be simpler! All that is necessary is a recent wallet size photograph of yourself mailed to:

Page One Valentine Contest
Kingston Daily Freeman
Kingston, New York.

Include your name, address, age, name and address of parents, school or place of employment. Believe it or not, that's all.

Six Finalists

A panel of judges will select six finalists from the entries whose pictures will be published in The Freeman. The public will vote then for the Queen using a ballot which will be listed daily in this newspaper. At that time, friends, relatives, and family will have the opportunity to get in on the act.

Deadline for the 1969 Page One Valentine Queen Contest will be Friday, Jan. 31. Public balloting will take place from February 1 to 12 and the judges' decision will be final. Freeman employees and their relatives are not eligible to enter the contest and all pictures will become the property of The Freeman.

Numerous Gifts

Last year's Valentine Queen, pretty Miss Nancy Beckert, whose portrait, complete with crown and gown, graced the front page of The Freeman on Valentine's Day, was the recipient of numerous gifts, including a $50 U.S. Savings Bond, courtesy of the Daily Freeman, as well as transistor radio, jewelry, clothing, gift certificates, cosmetics and other presents from leading local stores.

This year the Freeman is attempting to top last year's fantastic number of gifts for the 1969 victorious lass, as well as publishing a formal portrait on the new queen February 14 on page one of this newspaper.

So, smile sweetly, watch the birdie, and mail your lovely finished product to The Daily Freeman post haste. Then wait for the notice. "Here comes the judge(s)" and we hope you "sock it to 'em."

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Instead of using a pie pan to hold bacon flat in my skillet while it cooks, I use the aluminum rack from inside my pressure cooker.

It does a wonderful job of holding it flat while it fries. It's round and fits perfectly inside the skillet.

The holes in the rack also let the steam escape while the bacon is frying.

Mrs. L. P. D.

Dear Heloise:

I save waxed bread wrappers for my second and third graders. On rainy days I slip their books into them. A couple of sandwiches will fit, too, if they're careful not to mash them.

The books arrive dry at school. And I believe this is much better and safer — since we know the dangers of some plastic bags that cling and are large enough to slide over a small child's head.

Mrs. West

Dear Heloise:

This is in answer to the problem of dress belts with cracking cardboard backing. And can be done on either a new or old one.

Remove stitching and the cardboard backing. Get a plain plastic belt the same color as the background of the dress material.

Sew the belt material onto the plastic belt, with the tension loosened somewhat — so as not to cut the plastic.

You can use the buckle that is on the plastic belt or the original buckle.

For a neat trim, use a plastic belt a fraction wider than the original one so some of the plastic belt will show on both sides of the material — as an edging.

Mrs. Fix It

Dear Heloise:

Do you want to know a wonderful way to clean your bathroom tile?

Use auto wax! That wax is easy to apply and has a hard finish. The tile turns like new.

Just apply and wipe it off with a clean soft cloth.

Be sure to get a good brand of auto shampoo wax.

Mrs. F. J. M.

Dear Heloise:

The plastic inner caps found on bottles such as soy sauce, prevent the liquid from pouring too fast, but often they are too slow!

To remedy this, I heat the point of an ice pick, push it into the existing hole and then pull it out. This enlarges the hole a little and it pours faster.

Olympic Champ Enters Rosendale Ski Jump

WEST GERMANY'S Olympic champion skier, Franz Keller, displays the flawless form that enabled him to win the Nordic-Combined Gold Medal in the 1968 Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France. Keller will be the star attraction in the annual Rosendale ski jumps on Jan. 25-26. (UPI PHOTO FILES).

ROSENDALE — The United States Ski Association announced today that Franz Keller, West Germany's Nordic-Combined Gold Medal winner in the 1968 Winter Olympics will compete in the annual ski jump competition here on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 25-26.

Keller, representing his native Germany, won the first place Gold Medal in the combined ski jumping and cross-country racing at Grenoble, France, last March.

He will be jumping in both tournaments on the two-day weekend here against some of the best jumpers in the United States, including Pete Mikkelson of Iron Mountain, Michigan, and Larry Gillis of Dartmouth College.

The Gold Medal champion is being brought to the United States by the United States Ski Association in cooperation with the local jumping club, the Rosendale Outing Club.

On 70-Meter Hill

Keller will be jumping on a 70-meter Olympic size ski jumping hill when he negotiates Mt. Joppenbergh in the heart of Rosendale village.

The remainder of the field will be announced in a few days.

Outing Club officials plunged into gloom when the crack Finnish team cancelled out were Ski Jumping team, as well as U.S. Eastern teams.

The United States Ski Association is bringing in a number of foreign jumpers, in this off year between the Olympics in 1968 and the World Championships in 1970, and has set up a national tour for the foreign competitors.

The Rosendale event follows by one week the Masters Jumping Tournament and the Kennedy Memorial Games at Lake Placid. Following the Rosendale jumps, the international calendar lists a 90-meter jump at Leavenworth, Wash.; Steamboat Springs, Iron Mountain, Eau Claire and Ishpeming.

The public is invited to attend the Rosendale events.

Classy Field Schedule

Also scheduled to compete are a number of present and past members of the U.S. National

Hawks Try It Again

NEW PALTZ — If they gave out medals for coming close, State University College, New Paltz, basketball coach Doug Sheppard would have a trunkful.

"We could've been 7-0," he said last week before his 2-5 Hawks were beaten in the closing seconds both by Yeshiva and Stony Brook. And now he can justifiably say "we could've been 9-0, instead of 2-7."

The Hawks have not lost a ball game by more than six points all season, and have dropped only two by that big margin—to Oswego and Westfield. Two of the other five have been by two point margins and the other three by a single point.

It's enough to make a grown man cry. "I could've been leading the league," Sheppard said. "If I only had some rebounding."

Six-foot-six inch center Bob Freer, however, has been sitting out the season with a hairline fracture in his foot and sophomore Steve Dane, his replacement, has been too lacking in experience to provide the help the Hawks need.

Tonight it could be different. New Paltz faces its toughest opponent of the year in Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science, a team that slammed the Hawks 91-60 a year ago, but Freer could finally be ready to play.

And if the big senior can go it gives Sheppard the option of relieving Dane or using the two together for board strength.

It Starts in Earnest For Maroons Tonight

Against Philadelphia he is going to need it.

His opposite number coach Herb Magee has a highly regarded prospect in six-foot-nine inch freshman center Mike Fry.

Normally keen-eyed court general, as well as guard Greg Rios, a more than welcome addition to the starting quintet, and forward Werner Kolln.

Kolln came up with four assists in the Middletown game, the type of effort Kolln would like to see more of from his big men.

In the other DUSO opener, Port Jervis (3-1) travels to Newburgh Academy (4-2). Port has played all independent games to date, beating Minisink Valley twice and Delaware Valley.

The powerful Goldbacks lost two games in overtime — to Poughkeepsie and Philip Schuyler, a capital district powerhouse, while defeating Poughkeepsie, Beacon, Albany and the offensive boards like a

Joe Most Wanted on Lemm List

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Joe Namath, the toast of pro football, is the most wanted man on Coach Wally Lemm's list.

Lemm had to run his American Football League All-Stars through their first practice without a quarterback Monday.

Namath was apparently still celebrating his New York Jets' 16-7 victory over the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl.

Lemm, who coaches the Houston Oilers, is mighty happy to have Broadway Joe on his side. "Wasn't he fantastic?" Lemm said of Namath's performance against the Colts.

Coach Hank Stram of Kansas City, who had his AFL West All-Stars together for their opening practice, also talked of Namath and the Jets' upset which took the AFL out of second class status.

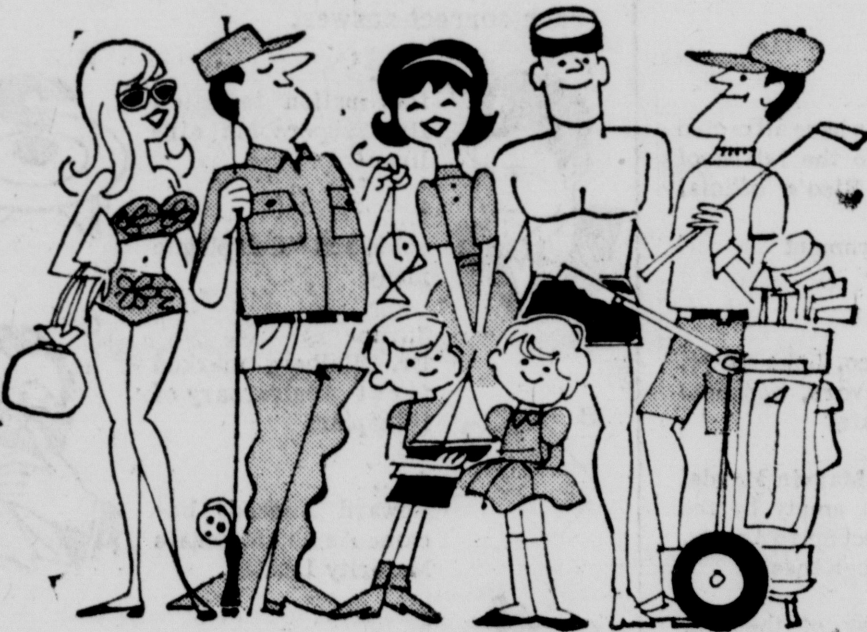

"What makes Namath different from most pro quarterbacks is his speed of retreat into the pocket before passing," Stram said. "Most pro passers go back nine yards. Namath goes 12. That's a heck of a difference."

Stram faces the problem of rushing Namath, a job that proved too much for AFL West stars last year — the first time the All-Star game was played in the Gator Bowl here. Namath engineered a 25-24 East victory, throwing two touchdown passes and plunging one yard for the winning score in the last minute.

Namath feels the need for a fourth operation on his left knee to mend an inflamed tendon in the joint. Jets physician Dr. James A. Nichols feels an operation could be hazardous. He believes rest will take care of the knee, and he will take another look at it before making final decision on the requested surgery.

Rondout-Marlboro Game Spawns Prime Foe for OCS

Tuesday was supposed to have been an off night for the basketball teams in the Ulster County Athletic League, with most of them set for non-league encounters before the second half of the season kicks off Friday. But a flu problem in the latter half of December has resulted in one of the league's most crucial matchups tonight.

Both Rondout Valley and Marlboro are 4-1 in league play, tied for second place a game and a half behind undefeated Onteora which has handed each of them a setback. Wednesday morning one of them will be 5-1 with a legitimate shot at the league title, and the other will be 4-2 and most likely have to settle for the spoiler's role for the remainder of the season.

The game had originally been scheduled December 20, and had it been played then, before the lines of strength had been firmly established in the league, it might not have been this crucial. But with Rod Patrick's Indians not figured to lose more than one or at the most two games all year, every game from here on out counts.

Marlboro has appeared sluggish of late, winning a tough one from Pine Bush and getting slammed by Fallsburgh in its last two outings following the 48-40 loss to Red Hook in the Christmas Tournament finale. Rondout looked fairly sharp in scrimmage against Kingston just before the end of the holiday recess, but it wasn't until the fourth quarter a week ago that they slammed past Highland. Friday Rondout blitzed Pine Bush 63-44.

Ed Sagarese's Iron Dukes lost to Onteora by only five points and have rolled up a 77 point advantage over the four league schools they have beaten. Rondout, while losing to the Indians by 13 points, has outscored its other league opponents by 96 points.

In other action involving league schools, Walkill shoots for its first win of the year against St. Patrick's of Newburgh. Highland travels to Ellenville. Onteora is at Red Hook and New Paltz is at John S. Burke Catholic High School in Goshen.

Red Hook, a solid favorite to go all the way in the Dutchess County Scholastic League's Hudson Valley Division, dropped a hard-fought battle to Onteora in the season opener. Both clubs have improved steadily since then, but the Raiders should be tough on their home court.

Highland was bombed 87-58 by Onteora Friday, while the Ellies were taking undisputed possession of second place in the Village DUSO league with a 65-56 romp over Monticello. Coach Skip Liebenow's Blue Devils have also split with New Paltz, a team that downed the Highlanders early in the season.

Burke lost a two-pointer to Minisink Valley Friday, and the Eagles are expected to put Huguenot coach Frank Davis' zone to a real stiff test.

KHS Ski Squad Scores First Win

ROCK HILL — Kingston High School skiers scored their first victory of the season, defeating Monticello High by 7.9 seconds in a dual meet at Holiday Mountain.

Bob Heins of Monticello was first across the wire in 29.8 seconds, with Frank Barnes of Kingston second in 31.35 seconds.

Glen Sonnenshein of Monticello placed third, followed by Kingston's Dick Baltz and Steve Brokie in fourth and fifth place. Tim O'Donnell and Bart Dutto rounded out Kingston's top five.

Monticello did not field a girls team but three Kingston girls ran the course. Terry Goffredi was home first in 34.10, followed by Sue Weber, 38.05 and Nancy Potter, 58 flat.

The dual meet was run on an extremely tight course with ice.

1. Bob Heins	M	29.8
2. Frank Barnes	K	31.35
3. Glenn Sonnenshein	M	32.55
4. Dick Baltz	K	33.15
5. Steve Brokie	K	33.15

KHS Swim Team Takes Close One

MIDDLETOWN — Kingston High swimmers launched their bid for a second straight DUSO League title with a brilliant 48-46 come-from-behind victory over Middletown High Monday.

Coach Ron Gabriele's swimmers had to win 15 of the last 16 points to nip the Middies in a spectacular duel in which Kingston swimmers set five new records and one pool record was set.

Clutch swimming on the part of Gene Gruner and Craig Murray insured the Maroon victory. Murray's 1:50.7 in the 160-yard individual medley broke the school record as did Gruner's 0:59.1 clocking in the 100-yard butterfly which also snapped the Middletown YMCA pool record.

Although he placed third to Middletown's Phil Walsh and Mark Wittman in the 100-yard backstroke, Mike O'Hara managed in that event with a 1:09.2 performance. Gruner eclipsed another record in the 100-yard breaststroke, winning in 1:09.7.

Brilliant Comeback
With three events remaining, Kingston trailed the underdog Middies, 42-27. John Brinnier and Al DeForest narrowed the gap slightly in the 400-yard freestyle to 45-43.

With two events left, the Middies needed only three points to seal it, but never got them. The 100-yard breaststroke is always the next to the

New Paltz, Ellenville Skiers Qualify for State JC Tourney

NEW PALTZ — Robert Johnson, Birch Taylor, Kathy Murray and Cindy Roehrs will head the list of area competitors in the annual New York State Chamber of Commerce Ski Meet to be held at Turin Jan. 31-Feb. 1.

Johnson, of New Paltz, won the 12-13-year old category in the New Paltz Jaycee meet held at the Bonticou Ski Hill Saturday. Taylor, also of New Paltz, placed first in the 11-12 age group. Miss Murray, of Ellenville won the girls 12-13 competition and Miss Roehrs, another last event and is usually handled by Murray.

But it was a do or die situation and Coach Gabriele decided to take the big gamble. He put both big guns in the breaststroke, hoping for an 8-1 shut-out, which he got. That left it up to the final relay team of O'Mara, George Schonger, Garry Schantz and Pete Helmich and they proceeded to make mince meat out of the weak Middle foursome.

Brinnier Scores Double
John Brinnier continued his domination of the long distance events with easy victories in the 200 and 400 yard freestyle events.

Gruner picked up another double with his speedy 59.1 clocking in the 100 butterfly for KHS and pool marks, and 1:09.7 in the 100 breaststroke.

In other DUSO League action, Newburgh Academy scored an

Shue and Guerin No Strangers In NBA Annual All Star Game

BALTIMORE (AP)—The rival coaches in tonight's National Basketball Association All-Star game are no strangers to the annual classic. Each appeared several times as a player.

Gene Shue of the host Baltimore Bullets will guide the East and Richie Guerin of Atlanta led the West in the 19th renewal of the All-Star series that began in 1951.

The East won that first game, 111-94, and holds a 12-6 edge in the series, including last year's 144-124 victory behind Hall Greer's 21 points.

Shue and Guerin are making their first All-Star appearance as coaches, but Shue played in five of the games—scoring 66 points—and Guerin in six, scoring 63.

The West will be led by rookie

KWBA Entry Blanks Ready for Bowlers

Entry blanks have been distributed for the 28th annual Kingston Woman's Bowling Association championships scheduled to begin Saturday, March 2, at Woodstock Lanes.

Team event competition is scheduled March 1, 9 and March 15, with singles and doubles March 2, 8 and 16. Averages are official as of Dec. 15, 1968, for the 80 per cent handicap tournament.

Deadline for entries is Feb. 11, with Mrs. Betty Phillips serving as chairman of entries.

Competition will be in three classes in team, doubles and singles. All events will be rolled from scratch with a bowler's average determining her classification.

Breakdown for classes follows:
Class A—team, 750 and up; doubles, 300 and up; singles, 150 and up.

Class B—team, 749-650, off 760 scratch; doubles, 299-260, off 310; singles 149-130, off 160.

Class C—teams, 649-under, off 660; doubles, 259-under, off 270; singles, 129-under, off 140.

A bowler may enter as many team events as the number of leagues in which she has bowled 21 or more games during the current season, either as a regular or substitute. However, no more than three bowlers from an original team may enter together on an additional team.

The tournament offers a wide variety of trophies and cash prizes.

Will Attempt To Free Cutter On Wednesday

An attempt to free the Coast Guard icebreaker Sassafras from its rocky perch on a Hudson River shoal about two miles north of the Bear Mountain Bridge will be made Wednesday morning.

A spokesman at the Press Office of the U.S. Coast Guard at New York City said the damage has been patched and an attempt will now be made to raise the bottom off the rock ledge.

Salvage divers have sealed off all of the vessel's forward compartments so air can be forced into them to hold back the water. The refloating process will include removal of some equipment and dumping of water and fuel.

The Coast Guard spokesman said the complement of about 45 men are comfortable with ample heating and food.

The Sassafras, seen in this area on its icebreaking missions each winter, went aground Friday afternoon and early reports had it tearing apart and sinking.

John Ross of the Press Office said the vessel struck bottom in the forward hull on a seven foot shoal in the river. He said the hull and main hold and main fuel tank were flooded and crew was pumping out the water and everything was reported under control.

Two rescue tugs, Manitou and Mahoning were relaying gasoline for the distressed ship's pumps.

Have 48 Hours
All suspension and revocation orders issued by the State Motor Vehicle Department on an after Jan. 1, will carry the stipulation that the affected items must be surrendered within 48 hours after receipt of the order. It was noted today by Patrolman Ernest Bartroff of the police traffic control division.

If the motorist fails to meet this requirement a $15 penalty must be assessed against him. The penalty must be paid before the Motor Vehicle Department will renew or reissue any license or registration documents.

LEGAL NOTICE

MANAGEMENT TRAINEE

We are now placing Management Trainees into one of the most impressive career opportunities ever to be offered by our Company.

We have had tremendous growth in the last few years. Our projected growth and personnel needs would stagger you! We must be prepared to meet this growth challenge with good people who are well versed in our business and ready to assume top management positions.

We prefer a college degree but will accept equivalent business experience. Starting salary depends on qualifications.

Our benefits are top: hospitalization and medical plan, profit sharing, retirement plan, employee discount and liberal vacation policy.

Come in, let's discuss your qualifications or if a visit is not convenient, call Mr. David Mountford, 338-5020, Monday through Friday.

Dear Abby

Cut Out the Kissing

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 years old and have been working for nearly a year in a place that's way out in the sticks and not very easy to get to. My problem is the man I ride to and from work with. He is 53, married, and has grown children. Abby, I started giving this man a little peck on the cheek every time he took me home, but now I'm having a terrible time getting him to stop at one kiss. I know I shouldn't have started up with him in the first place because I can't stand him, but I don't drive and this man picks me up at my door every morning and brings me home after work, and he never asked for a dime.

The free transportation was a good deal before he got so chummy. How can I keep this old man in his place and not lose my rides?

DEAR NO: You probably can't, so now would be a good time to find a job that's easier to get to. Nothing is free, so prepare to pay for your transportation in cash, cut out the kissing, and kiss off this old lecher for good.

DEAR ABBY: I have always heard that a wife can help her husband to succeed in business. Exactly how can she do this? I mean, don't some wives try too hard and spoil things for their husbands?

I am 24 and my husband is 27. He's a junior executive with an ad agency and has lots of talent and ambition, but I'd like to do everything I can to help him.

I'm a beautician and am still working, but will quit as soon as I get pregnant. (We've been working on that for about a year, but so far, no luck. Any advice there?)

DEAR TINA: You can help your husband by letting him know you have confidence in his ability to succeed. You can be a good sport if he has to work late or take a business trip without you.

You can send him to work looking like a winner — well-dressed clothes, clean shirts and ties, and not in need of a haircut. (I don't expect YOU to cut his hair, but you can remind him when he needs it.)

Listen when he wants to talk, and be quiet when he doesn't. Encourage him to climb, but be patient, and don't nag or make comparison. And about that family you're working on. Check in with your friendly neighborhood doctor.

DEAR ABBY: After 21 years of marriage I still call my husband at work just to say "I love you."

Who knows? After he leaves for work one of us may not live thru the day. I know it's company time, but I love the guy and I think it helps him to do a better job just knowing how important he is to our five children and me. And you can sign my name. I don't care who knows it.

ROSE AUCHINLECK:
Norristown, Pa.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WALLY: Don't fight it. He'd rather switch.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NUMBERS GAME: (Q.) You suggested to "Confused and Worried" that she date only boys she could get serious about—With an eye on marriage. I think you're overlooking other important facets of dating.

In my book all girls fit into three groups: (1) Girls you'd like to get serious with. (2) Girls you might like to get serious with after you are better acquainted. (3) Girls you DO NOT, under any circumstances, want to get serious with. I date all three kinds and get a different kind of pleasure from going out with each.

I date No. 1 girls and think beautiful thoughts about them. I date No. 2 girls to get to know them better. Occasionally I date a No. 3 girl because she has a certain turn in mind, or quirk of personality, or approach to life and love that I don't find in other girls.

In view of this how can you counsel an emerging spirit to hide from experiences that will help him to develop into a well-rounded adult?—M.M.M. of Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas.

(A.) I was answering a girl. You are not a girl. Some boys and men can date girls in your Group 3 and keep away from too-emotional involvements.

It's not that easy for a girl. Girls are usually more emotional than boys. Their hearts are likely to be closer to the surface. When they're of marrying age and date boys in Group 3, they can get hurt when things don't work out.

You are probably a nice guy, but what if a girl who considers herself nice dated you and just accidentally found out that you ranked her as a No. 3? She would definitely be hurt! And she just might tell you what she thought of YOU.

I still believe it's smart for girls to date boys who will be husbands if love blooms out of what started as friendship.

And I hope you don't fall in love with one of your No. 3 dates. You may find yourself changing your philosophy.

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JAN. 15, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Accents on long-range plans. Keep communication lines open. Discuss future vacation plans with family member. Be aware of future trends. Gain shown through written word. Read, study and write.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Avoid self-deception. Face facts as they exist — includes matters pertaining to budget, expenditures. Discuss finances with mate, partner, close associate. Don't overextend yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Stress on permanent ties, including marriage. Means this is no day to play games. Others are apt to be supersensitive. Permit one close to you to have spotlight. Play waiting game.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Attend to personal tasks, requirements. Some may attempt to involve you in their problems. Be charming — but decline. Necessary today to attend to basic issues. Get better understanding of job.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Day features fun through creative endeavors. Loved ones provide pleasure. Evening on the town could provide great benefit. Your personality sparkles. People comment on your wit, showmanship.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Family member may be overemotional. Your task is to remain calm. Think of future. Ignore petty annoyances. Accent also on property matters, domestic situation. Follow through on hunch.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Spotlight on short trip. Day features flurry of activity. Some messages could be garbled. Don't offend relative by sharp retort. Sense of humor becomes your great ally.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Attend to financial matters. Study details connected with buying, selling. Key is to be thorough. Read between the lines—study fine print. Then you could emerge with profit. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You can win friends, influence people. Lunar position accents your personality. You get your way through charm, self-expression. Speak up. Display unique talents. You're a winner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be charitable. Realize some want to please but feel restricted. Patience today could win over one who has been elusive. Pleasant surprise is due. It's prepared behind the scenes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Conserve energy. Some are well-meaning but squander your time. You could find out today just who is best for planned project. Not wise to mix business with pleasure. Be practical.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Be confident about your own abilities. Your career, prestige may be on the rise. Don't rock boat by neglecting basic responsibilities. One in authority sees things your way.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are entering an exciting period which features travel, variety and — if single — marriage. If married, you could rediscover mate — and rekindle romance.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for SAGITTARIUS, CAPRICORN, AQUARIUS. Special word to VIRGO: give careful consideration to offer involving sale or purchase of property.

Opening lead—♥ K
No one could accuse East of lack of decisiveness in today's bidding. When he doubled four spades he had no certainty of defeating the contract. Some players would expect that South would bring the contract home.

East did have one idea when he doubled. That was that his partner could not make five hearts. He was right about that. If he had passed and if West had gone on, five hearts would have been set at least one trick.

Unfortunately for East, South proceeded to wrap the four-spade contract around his neck. It didn't require any tremendous playing ability.

South ruffed the opening heart lead and studied the hand for sometime. His problem was to decide whether to play diamonds or trumps first. He finally decided that the best line would be to play ace and another spade hoping for a 2-2 trump break or for the fall of a singleton honor. The trumps broke 2-2 and all South's worries were over.

West led a second heart after taking his king of spades. South ruffed and led a diamond to dummy's jack. East was in with the king and played a third heart which South also ruffed. At this point South would have made five odd if diamonds had broken since he would have been able to discard three of dummy's clubs on his long diamonds. The 5-1 diamond break killed the overtrick but did not stop South from ruffing his fifth diamond and making the doubled game.

The game was team of four. At the other table the bidding proceeded the same way except that East did not double four spades. Sure enough, West went to five hearts.

North showed lack of decisiveness and passed. He didn't have much but his four hearts were sure to annoy an enemy declarer. Anyway North passed. South decided to try five spades and that was one contract that could not be made.

a violent overthrow of a government
After their unsuccessful coup d'tat, the dismayed leaders fled into the mountains to escape the government's army. Dissatisfied with the rule of the current President, a group of angry rebels were plotting to stage a coup d'tat on Christmas Day. After witnessing the horrors of a bloody coup d'tat in the foreign nation they were visiting, the American couple returned home immediately.

New Award Looms for Namath

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Broadway Joe Namath, who psyched and then whipped the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl Sunday, is a show business star today. Television has made sports a major part of show business. All of which explains NBC-TV's "Academy of Professional Sports Awards."

Namath is a nominee for the outstanding football player prize in the second annual awards program, which will be broadcast Feb. 19 for an hour, with Perry Como as host. It is a black tie invitational affair, with about 80 persons expected to attend at the NBC studios in Burbank, and take part in a dinner afterward—and if last year's ceremonies were indicative, more movie stars will be present than at the Academy Awards Show.

Something Special
Awards programs invariably get big television ratings, but a broadcast that honors sports figures is, in Hollywood, really something special to see because, to the movie and television figures that the rest of the country idolizes, the super athletes are very unique and rare celebrities. They are the stars to whom film and stars offer their own hero worship.

Norman Baer, a bearded former sports writer for International News Service who is producing the sports awards show for NBC-TV, recalls the time he introduced a tough agent to John Unitas, the great Baltimore Colts quarterback. The agent, says Baer, "was like a little boy. He told Unitas: 'You're my idol.'"

Stars Impressed
Baer is not all exaggerating when he says that many theatrical stars are "impressed, even awed" by top athletes. It is common knowledge in this town that a star who may be difficult to get for an appearance on even a top network show is usually an easy mark if you ask him (or her) to turn up for a broadcast, or a personal outing, with a sports hero.

At a party for Sugar Ray Robinson the other night, a theatrical agent told me that, as a rule, he prefers the company of worldly athletes to that of "because there is less strain, less tension with sports guys—they are more secure as people. An actor is always trying to hide his mistakes, and worries about his image. When an athlete makes an error, it is there for everyone to see—and he learns to live with himself."

According to Baer, Hollywood figures who will help make awards presentations on the Feb. 19 show include Bill Cosby for basketball (he was a basketball player), Kim Novak for horse racing (she's a horse owner), Danny Kaye for baseball (he's a baseball buff) and permission was also received from the amateur athletic union to allow swimming star Debbie Meyer, 16, to serve as trophy girl.

movie, ("Pro"). Baer says also is starring in a gridiron girl.

Q—When was the first time Columbus set foot on the North American mainland?
A—Columbus landed in Honduras in 1502. The landing took place on his fourth and last trip to the New World.

Q—How did the bedstraw, a plant of the madder family, traditionally receive its name?
A—According to tradition, the manger where Christ was born was filled with these plants.

Q—How many arms has an octopus?
A—Eight and only eight, never more and never less.

All Is Fine: Cosmonaut; Moscow Mum on His Goals

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union launched a cosmonaut into orbit around the earth today and within minutes he told a nationwide television audience "everything is fine. I am fine."

Lt. Col. Vladimir Shatalov rode his Soyuz 4 spacecraft into orbit at 2:39 a.m. EST on what the Soviet news agency Tass said was a "complicated and responsible program." It did not detail his goals.

A Moscow television commentator said Shatalov's flight would conduct further tests on the Soyuz spacecraft as part of the Soviets' long-range goal of establishing earth-orbiting space stations for interplanetary space travel.

Western experts said the craft carries two maneuvering engines and is capable of staying in orbit up to 30 days.

In a pre-flight statement, Shatalov said he was assigned to continue testing "the excellent spaceship" but gave no indication how long the flight would last.

(In Bochum, Germany, Heinz Kaminsky, director of the Bochum Institute for Satellite and Space Research, predicted Shatalov would link up with the unmanned Cosmos 263 satellite launched Sunday and with other vehicles yet to be sent skyward.

Minutes after launch, Soviet television came on with videotapes of Shatalov's ship lifting majestically from the Soviets' central Asia space center and curving toward orbit, its five rocket boosters a brilliant orange.

Feels Fine

Then the cameras inside the craft showed the 41-year-old cosmonaut, the Soviets' 13th space voyager, smiling and waving as he reported, "Everything is fine. I feel fine. Everything is working excellently."

Later the cosmonaut described his first hours in space over the national television hookup, similar to the one used by the Apollo 8 astronauts.

"I was able to bear well the overloads (of launching) and weightlessness," he said. "I adjusted myself to the overloads. I have distributed all scientific equipment.

Tass said Shatalov was circling the globe once every 88 minutes and 15 seconds. His orbit took him from 100 to 140 miles from the earth, at a 51-degree angle from the equator.

The Soyuz spacecraft, Western experts said, was a prototype of the vehicle the Soviets plan to use for lunar journeys. Tass said the cosmonaut was well into his flight program of duties and experiments.

For the first time since Sputnik 11 years ago, the Soviets have fallen behind the United States in the race for space. The Kremlin has exerted heavy pressure on scientists to recover the lead.

Continues Research

A television newscaster said Soyuz 4 would continue the research carried out by cosmonaut Georgy Beregovoi in his four-day flight orbiting the earth in Soyuz 3 in November. Tass said Soyuz 3 had in-perfect processes involved in maneuvering the spacecraft with the help of a flight control system. Shatalov's craft was identical to its Soyuz predecessor, western experts said.

The Soviet news agency described the latest cosmonaut, making his first space flight, as a "man of profound knowledge and firm will" who has been an aviation buff since childhood.

The Soyuz series ultimately is designed to lead to the establishment of space stations orbiting the earth, from which space vehicles can eventually be launched to the moon and planets.

First Test Fatal

The first Soyuz test in April of 1967 ended in tragedy when its parachute cords became tangled during reentry killing cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov.

During the Soyuz 3 test, cosmonaut Beregovoi made numerous approaches and maneuvers with an unmanned Soyuz 2 sister ship which was brought to earth after two days in space.

Leaving Paris Sunday

Ave Starts Saying the Goodbyes

By GEORGE SIBERA

PARIS (UPI) — With less than a week left in the Johnson administration, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman today began his formal goodbyes as chief of the U.S. negotiating team at the Vietnam war talks.

Harriman, who will be succeeded by Henry Cabot Lodge when Richard M. Nixon is inaugurated president Jan. 20, is scheduled to leave Sunday for Washington, where he will retire.

Harriman said Monday it makes no sense to speak of winning a "limited war" such as Vietnam, but that America should concentrate on doing what it has pledged to do—such as reaching the point of self-determination for Vietnam.

"I hope that the press and the public will realize this and not talk about winning a war but rather of achieving these objectives."

Harriman added that both sides are now committed to the talks and, although time and patience are needed, "I believe that out of these negotiations a peaceful solution will come."

Harriman was guest of honor

Monday night at a reception given by the head of the South Vietnamese delegation to the talks, Pham Dang Lam. The ambassadors of all the allied nations involved in the Vietnam war also attended the reception.

For Harriman, the final week of his work in Paris was expected to be like most of the weeks since he came here last May to open official conversations with North Vietnam—a frustrating exercise in stalemate diplomacy.

Conference observers said there was no hope for any progress toward getting the expanded talks started before Harriman leaves his post and President Johnson leaves office.

Harriman's deputy, Cyrus Vance, on Sunday held what was likely the last secret meeting with his North Vietnamese counterpart, Col. Ha Van Lau, before Nixon takes office next Monday.

At that meeting, Vance presented two more new proposals to the Hanoi negotiating team in an effort to break the deadlock which has held up the start of the expanded talks since last November.

However, the North Vietnamese dismissed both proposals as containing "nothing new."

On Monday, Harriman told members of the Anglo-American press club in Paris he believed the talks in Paris would eventually bring peace to Vietnam.

Fuel Litters Streets as Pipeline Breaks

LIMA, Ohio (UPI)—A pipeline break poured thousands of gallons of fuel oil into the streets and sewers of Lima late Monday. A $200,000 fire destroyed the sewage disposal plant and minor explosions rocked the sewer system, but the threat of widespread fire damage was averted.

A policeman suffered minor facial burns, but no one else was known to have been injured.

About 10,000 persons—4,000 adults and 6,000 children—were moved out of a 125-block area along the route of the sewer line principally involved in the flood of oil. They were waiting today for the word to return to their homes.

Officials of the Buckeye Pipeline Co. said a 22-inch fuel line burst at about 4:30 p.m. Monday, spewing oil under pressure into the streets. A spokesman estimated that at least 8,000 gallons—an hour's normal flow—escaped before the line could be shut down.

Lakes of highly volatile oil six inches deep and a block long formed in some places.

Mayor Christian Morris proclaimed a state of emergency and put all firemen, policemen and other city employees on round-the-clock duty. Firemen flushed the oil into the sewer while policemen informed residents of the danger and led them from their homes.

Gov. James Rhodes called out the 250 men of the Ohio National Guard's 140th Division to aid in clearing the threatened area and to guard against looting.

The oil in the sewers somehow caught fire, causing a number of minor explosions that mushroomed into a roaring blaze at the sewage disposal plant on the banks of the Ottawa River.

The policeman's face was burned when he lifted a manhole cover and flames erupted from the sewer.

Acting Police Chief Ronald Cook said at 5 a.m. the entire area would be checked beginning at daybreak and all residences would be inspected before persons could return to their homes.

"There's no definite time on when we can let people back in," Cook said.

County GOP Women List Sen. Goodell

CHARLES E. GOODELL

Wednesday Last To File for School Exams

Wednesday is the last day for filing applications for the position of supervisor of transportation at Ontario Central School and school lunch manager at Highland Central School.

The examination date for the position is Feb. 15.

The position of supervisor of transportation has a salary range from $6,000 to $8,300. The school lunch manager calls for a salary of $3,500.

Applications must be submitted on or before Wednesday at Ulster County Civil Service office in the County Office Building, Main and Fair Streets, where further information is available.

Sen. Charles E. Goodell, Beta Kappa, the national honorary scholastic fraternity. He received a bachelor of laws degree from Yale in 1951 and a Yale master's degree in government in 1952.

Goodell was an enlisted man in the Navy in World War II and an officer in the Air Force during Korea.

The orchestra, master of ceremonies and committees will be designated at a later date when tickets are available.

The event will be held Saturday, Feb. 15 at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. Co-chairmen Mrs. Caryl Kramer and Mrs. Hilda Krum will make formal announcement of the event at a meeting Thursday night. Details will be forthcoming.

Goodell, who was appointed to the Senate by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, is a 43-year-old Jamestown lawyer. He won his first political contest in 1959 when as Chautauque County Republican chairman he ran in a special congressional election and won the post by a 2 to 1 margin.

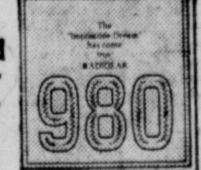

Born in Chautauque County, Goodell, a doctor's son, was graduated in 1948 from Williams College where he won five varsity letters in baseball and football and was tapped for Phi

The Most Important Part Of Your Home Is YOU!

Ever try to figure out what is the most important thing about your home—is it the style, the size of the rooms, materials used, furniture . . . or maybe the heating system?

Well, you're getting close. Actually isn't the most important of your home YOU . . . and the members of your family who live there?

Those who live in the home are the ones who MUST be satisfied.

Why do so many builders, contractors, engineers, architects—people who plan and build homes—choose OIL HEAT for their own homes?

Same reason as most people prefer OIL HEAT. They don't want to put up with a heating system that leaves the floor or the basement cold. They don't want to settle for dirt or drafts. And like the rest of us, they're interested in the safety of their families.

OIL HEAT is truly the mark of a good home—a comfortable home, no matter how big or small. So, let the winds howl and the mercury plummet. Oil heat will quietly deliver abundant warmth to every room.

OIL HEAT will save you money—year in and year out. That's mighty important, too, for every homeowner wants to guard against needless expense.

Don't settle for anything—but OIL HEAT.

These old stone houses of Kingston are probably the largest concentration of early eighteenth century buildings anywhere in this country . . . they are not restorations in general, they are not reproductions, but they are the original houses which generation after generation of families have lived in and cared for.

In this back view of the Andrew Carl house in uptown Kingston, the original house is facing southeast because the big fireplace furnished all the heat and all the cooking space. The chimney was put in the northwest to catch the prevailing winds in order to make the fireplace most productive. This one room was used at first as the general family room for all activities. The loft above was used for storing crops at first, later it became the craft center where the looms for weaving were, for instance. We were proud to work on this beautiful old home.

If you're weaving in your loft, you know whether the roof leaks or not. If not, perhaps you'd better have Smith Parish take a look . . . our estimate is free.
